U. S. BOMBERS STRIKE BERLIN AGAIN

REDS SWEEPING NEARER SOUTH RAILWAY LINE

Odessa-Lwow Route Threatened; Chief Nazi Supply Line to Dnieper.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 6—The Red army swept close today to the vital Odessa-Lwow railway, main artery supplying the Germans in the Dnieper bend, in a powerful new western Ukraine drive which Moscow announced, has routed 12 Nazi divisions and liberated more than 500 communities in two days.

A Soviet communique said the Russians were battling at the approaches to the station of Volochisk on the important line, 60 miles north of the Rumanian frontier. Severing of the railway would force the Nazis to rely on poor roads and one-track railways over the Rumanian frontier, or on the sea, for supplies or retreat.

Moscow Fires Salute

Twenty salvos from 224 guns thundered in Moscow in celebration of the new victories, announced by Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin in a special order of the day. Stalin disclosed Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov was commanding the first Ukrainian army in the drive, replacing Gen. Nikolai K. Vatutin, who was reported ill.

The announcements said at least 6,000 Nazis already have been slain in the push, which cracked German defenses on a 112-mile front and surged forward up to 31 miles. Joining with previously won positions in old Poland, the new line gave the Russians a salient from Dembrovitsi, in the north, southwest to Lutsk and then southeast to Belozerka — a line about 165 miles long.

Nazis Admit Reverses

The German communique yesterday admitted breakthroughs and a Berlin broadcast said the Russians were attacking with at least 12 to 14 rifle divisions and three tank corps—more than 200,000 men.

The Soviet bulletin announced that far to the north, where the Red army has established a bridgehead across the Narova river in Estonia south of Narva, the Russians improved their positions. The communique made no mention of fighting at Pskov, gateway to the Baltics.

Moscow also reported Russian torpedo and attack planes had sunk two transports, aggregating 14,000 tons, and a 700-ton minesweeper in attacks on a German convoy in the Barents sea and had damaged a 7,000-ton transport.

CHURCH CONFERENCE SPEAKERS CHOSEN

"World Government" To Be Topic of Program Here.

Speakers have been chosen for the interdenominational conference on "World Government" to be held in Calvary Evangelical church here March 14, Rev. E. M. Hertzler, in charge of arrangements, announced today. They are Rev. D. W. Rolier of Mansfield, Rev. M. L. Scott and Rev. J. C. Babbs of Columbus and Rev. Schuyler E. Garth of Youngstown.

The conference, one of a number of such county conferences sponsored throughout the estate by the Ohio Council of Churches, is backed here by the Marion County Council of Churches. Its purpose is to "guide a study of 'world government' as a means of preventing future wars," and to "bring a sense of responsibility on the part of the churches for building a Christian world order." Forty Ohio ministers are giving a week or more of their time in mid-March to the state-wide crusade.

FARM WORKER TAKES STAND

Tenant Tells of Seeing Two Cars Drive Into McCoy Barnyard.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON C. H., O., March 6—A witness testified in James W. Collett's murder trial today that he saw two automobiles drive into the farm home of Elmer McCoy shortly before the hour at which the prosecution has estimated the wealthy hog breeder and his family were shot to death last Thanksgiving eve.

The testimony came from Dewey Claytor, a tenant farmer employed by McCoy, and was filled with specific hours. The defense questioned each item closely, in an effort to prove Collett was not in Fayette county at the time of the slayings.

Claytor, dressed in overalls, related that he went to the nearby community of Yatesville after milking that night and started back home a little after 8 o'clock. He was sitting in the kitchen of his home about 8:15, he said, when he saw an automobile with two tail lights stop at the nearby McCoy farm. A man got out, opened the gate, then drove in.

Second Car Arrives

Twenty minutes later, he said, a second automobile, bearing only one tail light, drove into the farm. Claytor said he thought the first was a sedan, the second a coupe.

James N. Linton, chief defense counsel, questioned Claytor closely. The tenant farmer clung insistently to the time schedule, the only change being that it might have been a little earlier than first said when he left Yatesville.

Dr. E. H. McDonald testified he examined the bodies shortly after they were discovered Thanksgiving morning, and that he saw Sheriff W. C. Icenhower move the body of McCoy, who was shot to death in the barn.

Aim To Prove Alibi

Defense attorneys already have filed notice of intention to show that Collett was in neighboring Clinton county near his home when his brother-in-law, Elmer McCoy, 59, Mrs. Forrest McCoy, 64, and Mildred McCoy, 22, were shot to death last Thanksgiving eve at their farm home in Fayette county.

Prosecutor John B. Hill told the trial jury in an opening statement Friday evidence would prove Col-Collett was at the farm and was the slayer. Opening testimony by a friend of Miss McCoy, Miss Katheryn Wead, indicated Miss McCoy arrived home about 9 p. m. Thanksgiving eve after visiting Miss Wead at her home in Xenia.

McCoy neighbors have told of hearing shots about that hour the night of the slayings.

$20,000 BLAZE SWEEPS HOTEL AT DELAWARE

Thirteen Marion Firemen Help Battle Blaze in Wing of 100-Year-Old Building.

Thirteen Marion firemen were called to Delaware yesterday afternoon when a $20,000 blaze swept the "new" wing of the 100-year old Allen Hotel, a Delaware landmark since stage-coach days. The fire of undetermined origin started in the rear of a drug store on the ground floor of the hotel, which consists of rooms above business places on the first floor.

Flames were easily brought under control in the store itself, but spread rapidly through an air vent into hotel rooms in the second and third stories. About 25 rooms in the wing, which was built in 1915 when the hotel was remodeled, were destroyed. The building is built in the shape of a U and the new wing faces Delaware's main street.

Capt. Frank Price of the Delaware fire department, on duty after the fire, suffered severe strains. Delaware firemen said the strain was a result of overwork at the time of the blaze. A volunteer fireman, Frank Thompson, suffered extensive cuts on his hand when a bottle exploded as he was fighting flames in the drug store and Deputy State Fire Marshal Dwight Barkeloo of Delaware suffered a badly sprained ankle at the scene of the fire. Cyrus J. Reese of the Delaware department was twice overcome by smoke. After the first time he returned to duty only to be overcome again. One woman, thinking the fire was spreading to the old wing, ran to the roof, from which firemen rescued her. She was in a part of the building not endangered by the fire.

Firemen from Marion called to the scene were Chief Owen D. Sifritt, John Cocherl, Harold Monette, L. M. Alexander, R. M. Miller, B. E. Sullivan, John Ludwig, James Fisher, Stuart Jones, C. W. Stafford, T. E. Brownlee and Gerald Jennings.

RED CROSS REPORTS SCHEDULED TONIGHT

Workers in War Fund Drive To Meet.

Marion Red Cross ward leaders and leaders from rural communities who are participating in the war fund drive this month will meet tonight at the War Fund headquarters on East Center street, Miss Lillian Plack, executive secretary, announced today.

The meeting will start at 8 p. m. To date Miss Plack said that partial reports of the progress of the drive have been received from Bowling Green, Pleasant and Grand Prairie townships. A complete report of the amounts received up to that time will be given at the meeting.

She issued the reminder to all Marion county families that solicitations are not being conducted this year through the business offices and shops. Contributions will come only from the families at home. She urged all who have supported the drive thus far to display the Red Cross sticker in their windows and to wear the miniature flag during the remainder of the month.

Gripsholm Heads West with 711 Americans

By The Associated Press

LISBON, March 6—The Swedish exchange liner Gripsholm headed westward across the Atlantic today with 711 North and South Americans bound for home after a long period of internment in Germany and enemy occupied countries.

Most of those aboard the ship were deliriously happy as she started her voyage at midnight last night, but for some—who have lived in Europe for many years and have family ties on this side of the Atlantic—it was a sad occasion.

Among there were several dozen American World war veterans, remnants of the 1917 AEF who remained in France after that conflict, married, raised families and were interned by the Germans when the present war broke out.

For them embarkation on the Gripsholm meant being torn from their wives and children and what thousands of miles overseas.

GIRL, 11, ATTACKED; FATHER ARRESTED

Parent Detained Pending Outcome of Child's Condition.

A 42-year-old Marion father, arrested Saturday night on West Center street on an intoxication and disorderly conduct charge, was being held today after being charged with attacking his 11-year-old daughter, city police reported today.

The attack occurred about 7 p. m. Saturday while the mother was away from the house buying groceries. Police said that when questioned he admitted the offense. Detail yesterday and her condition. The child was taken to City hospital yesterday and was reported by the hospital staff to be "good" today.

The charge of rape wasn't filed at the station until yesterday when a member of the family came to the home and encouraged the mother to report the offense to authorities. She told police she had been afraid to leave the house after the occurrence.

When the act was reported yesterday, the family found the man was already being held on the intoxication and disorderly conduct charge. Police say he will be held pending the outcome of his daughter's physical condition.

Major Melby was a newsman for The Marion Star prior to entering service with Co. D, Marion National Guard unit, in the fall of 1941. He entered service as a lieutenant, having held that rank with the guard company here before it was called. He has not yet received orders regarding his assignment to follow his 20-day leave.

District OPA Staff Suffers Manpower Loss

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, March 6 — Loss of 949 men in the last 90 days has left the regional office of price administration, comprising Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia, with a serious employe shortage, OPA officials disclosed today.
Most of the 949 men who have left the service have joined armed forces, officials said, adding that further depletion is expected because nearly half of the present staff of 1,683 are under 38 and subject to the draft. The OPA said it needs women workers—both paid and volunteer, full-time and part-time—throughout the region.

Senate Committee Delays Daniels Action

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 6 — A senate agriculture sub-committee delayed action today on contempt proceedings against Jonathan Daniels, one of President Roosevelt's assistants, on his promise to appear tomorrow and testify about efforts to get Harry Slattery to resign as rural electrification administrator.
Chairman Smith (D-SC) said the committee ordered the proceedings delayed on receipt of a letter from Daniels that the latter was willings to answer questions to which he had refused to reply last week.
Daniels then refused to discuss Slattery's statement that Daniels three times had suggested he resign, a course Slattery declined to follow. Daniels contended his official confidential relationship with the President made it against public interest for him to testify.

NAZIS EVACUATING TALLINN. As German forces were reported evacuating the vital point of Tallinn (1) as shown on map, and seemingly moving into a corner where a last stand must eventually be made, Red armies continued their terrific smash in the Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania. In Lithuania (2) the Germans were reported setting up a special military government in Kovno as the Reds approached. Arrows indicate areas of fighting and goals toward which the Reds drive.

SOUTHERN EDITOR DIES

By The Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS, March 6 — Services were scheduled today for Linden E. Bentley, 91, one of the organizers of the Louisana Press association, and founder and former publisher of the Donaldsonville, La., Chief, who died at his home here yesterday. A native of Lynchburg, Ohio, he came to Louisiana when he was 12.

ONE POUND OF USED FATS yields enough glycerine for 73 smallpox inoculations, or 1.5 pounds of gunpowder. One pound of used fats is just 31 tablespoons full. Save a tablespoonful a day, turn it in for cash and extra ration points.

UNITY FOR ARMED FORCES IS PROPOSED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 6 — Integration of the nation's armed forces under a single supreme command and staff in one department of war is the common aim of a growing number of American military leaders and thinkers.

As of today, the weight of opinion appears to favor post war action on a complete overhaul of military machinery. Some highly-placed officials believe unification could be effected now, and add efficiency and speed to conduct of the war.

A major obstacle to those favoring immediate action is the fact that while there is wide agreement on the desirability of streamlining, there is no agreement on the pattern it should take.

Furthermore, its is pointed out that ranking officers whose operating experience would contribute the most valuable suggestions for revision—such men as the joint chiefs of staff, their principal assistants, and perhaps the theater commanders—are so pressed by immediate war problems they can not give careful consideration to proposed changes.

Proponents of immediate action to consolidate the Army, Navy and Air Forces assert, however, the step would cause the least friction if taken now, when there is actual operating unity.

Staff studies have been in progress for some time, and it may be that reports have been made by both Army and Navy. One of this country's outstanding military theorists, Brig. Gen. John MacAuley Palmer, generally regarded as architect of the national defense act of 1920, has been recalled from retirement and assigned to special work by Gen. George C. Marshall.

On the Navy side, at least one important individual has come out publicly for consolidation — Admiral H. E. Yarnell, retired. Yarnell, who commanded the Asiatic fleet when Japanese planes attacked and sank the U. S. gunboat Panay in China Dec. 12, 1937, has also been recalled to active duty, assigned to the office of Secretary Knox for an unannounced purpose.

Two Marion Gunnery Students Commended

Pfc. James B. Gwilym of the Marine Corps Reserve and John J. Fye, aviation radioman third class in the U. S. Naval Reserve, radiomen-gunners, both of Marion, were two of ten men in their class of aerial gunner students to receive the personal commendation of their commanding officer during a course in gunnery, according to the public relations office of the U. S. Naval Air station at Jacksonville, Fla. They are now assigned to aviation squadrons for final operational gunners' instruction there.

The two enlisted men will now serve in the dual role of aviation radiomen and aerial gunners as a result of this training and a previous course at a Naval School for aviation radio studies.

Gwilym is the son of Mrs. Ruth Gwilym, of 244 S. Grand avenue, Marion. He is a graduate of the Harding High school and had attended Bowling Green State university one year when he entered the Marines.

Fye is the son of Mr. Charles C. Fye of 148 E. George St., Marion. He is a graduate of St. Mary High school. Since entering the Navy he has completed the Memphis, Tenn., naval school for aviation radiomen.

BRICKER TO SPEAK IN JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

By The Associated Press

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 6 —Gov. Bricker of Ohio planned an address here today in connection with his announced candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination while Florida Republicans were to decide on whether to designate or elect delegates to the G.O.P. national convention.

All indications pointed to the Florida state Republican executive committee's 16 uninstructed and unpledged delegates to the national convention at Chicago.

Bricker, on the last leg of a southern swing, was asked at a press conference here yesterday if he believed a sales tax would be necessary to liquidate the war debt after he had stated an annual carrying charge of five to seven billion dollars was in prospect for the first few years after the war.

Bricker avoided a direct answer but asserted "much could be saved by cutting down on the three and a half million employes now on the federal payroll—they're not needed even now."

Bricker in an address at Chapel Hill, N. C., Saturday night asserted a "cloak of secrecy" was wrapped about operations of the federal government.

Bricker asserted the President has "jeopardized the opportunity and privilege of the soldier to vote in the 1944 elections" and had "attempted to jam through the congress one particular soldiers' vote bill."

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

NBC Hits Limit On Stations for Television

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 6 — Niles Trammell believes television, in getting under way after the war, should not be confronted with too many government restrictions. For one thing, he urges a change in the federal communications commission regulation limiting to three the number of picture stations one company may own.

The NBC president says that besides constructing a station in Washington as soon after the war as possible NBC had filed applications for stations in Chicago, Cleveland, Denver, San Francisco and Los Angeles. This, with the operating New York station, would make a total of seven.

* * *

Tonight: NBC—7, Brian Donlevy in "Odyssey to Freedom"; 7:30, Barlow concert from Cleveland; 8, Voorhees concert, Jascha Heifetz. CBS—8, Bette Davis in "The Letter"; 9, Frank Sinatra in "Gay Divorcee."

C. of C. Schedules Retailers' Meeting

Arrangements are being completed by the Chamber of Commerce for a retailers' meeting Thursday night at Thomas A. Edison Junior High school at which Elmer Wheeler, nationally known sales consultant, will speak on wartime sales problems. The meeting has been arranged by the Chamber retail group. Admission will be by ticket only, and Richard Isaly and Walter Axthelm are in charge of tickets.

Chamber members also will join with the Kiwanis club at a luncheon March 23 for representatives of several new industries that have located in Marion. T. G. Graham, vice president in charge of factory operations of the B. F. Goodrich Co., ill discuss the rubber situation and its post-war position.

Election Officials For Nearby Counties Listed

Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel has announced the appointment of the Republican and Democratic members of the County boards of election in all Ohio counties, for terms commencing March 1, 1944.

Appointments in counties surrounding Marion county are as follows: Crawford, H. S. Siegal of Bucyrus, and A. W. Weis of New Washington; Delaware, Clayton R. Jones of Radnor and Fred C. McKirgan of Ostrander; Hardin, Herbert Crane of Kenton and Lon Fisher of near Rushsylvania; Morrow, Frank Poorman of Cardington and Herbert Tennant of Marengo. Union, Paris Outland and Milton L. Rausch of Marysville; Wyandot, Walter Quaintance of Upper Sandusky and R. E. Williams of near Upper Sandusky.

The reappointment of George O. Thomas and James F. Lauer of Prospect as members of Marion county board of elections was announced several days ago.

The appointments were made by the secretary of state after Republican and Democratic county committees made their nominations.

WILLKIE WON'T ENTER OHIO FOR DELEGATES

Makes Decision After Canvass of Bricker Delegates.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, March 6—Wendell L. Willkie has decided not to contest with Gov. Bricker for Ohio delegates to the Republican national convention because a canvass of prospective delegates has disclosed many of them friendly to the 1940 G.O.P. presidential nominee in event of withdrawal of Bricker's candidacy, Robert A. Weaver, Cleveland industrialist and head of a group of Willkie supporters, reports.

Weaver said Willkie informed him of his decision by telephone from New York Saturday.

"Recently, Mr. Willkie's headquarters asked us to canvass the Bricker delegates to determine what the situation would be at the convention if Bricker's candidacy were withdrawn and no contest had been made for delegates by the Willkie forces," Weaver asserted.

"We reported that many prospective delegates and many other persons in the Republican organization were friendly to Mr. Willkie to a great degree and that it would be unnecessary for him to enter, if he wished to concentrate his attention elsewhere."

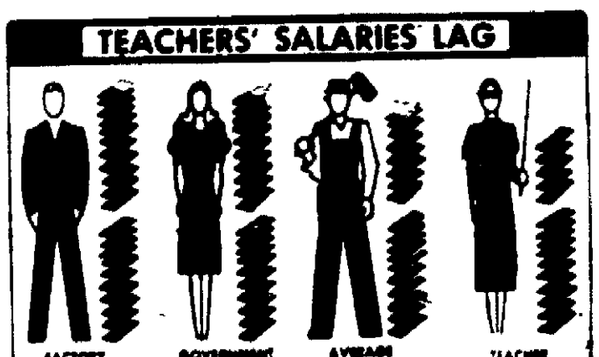
TEACHERS' SALARIES LAG



AVERAGE YEARLY INCOME

Editor & Publisher

ACCORDING to the National Education Association, the tremendous rise in national income during the war period has been reflected in the average earnings in other occupations to a far greater extent than is true for teaching. The chart above gives a comparison of the average teaching salary with those for other occupations. The "all workers" classification includes all workers for salaries and wages exclusive of government and agricultural workers. Not shown on the chart is the average doctor's income, which was $5,947 in 1941. (International)

HOUSE CLOSES BOOKS ON ARMY INVESTIGATION

Plans To Distribute Racial Pamphlets Are Dropped.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 6—The house military committee closed the books today on a secret investigation of Army plans to distribute 35,000 copies of a pamphlet on racial equality, but kept an eye on a government warehouse to make certain the books stay there.

Titled "The Races of Mankind," the pamphlet was published by the Public Affairs Committee, Inc., of New York City and was prepared by Prof. Ruth Benedict and Dr. Gene Weltfish, identified on the title page as associated with the department of anthropology of Columbia university.

Chairman May (D-Ky) said the war department abandoned plans to distribute the book after the committee threatened to "expose the motives behind this book." The purpose of the pamphlet, he declared, was to teach racial equality, especially the equality of white men and Negroes.

Committee members said the book had been banned from USO centers and its distribution then was promoted by the CIO War Relief Committee. When the army purchased 35,000 copies, May said, the committee decided to investigate.

Army spokesmen claimed the pamphlet never was intended for general circulation among soldiers but was to have been distributed among officers teaching orientation courses as background material to refute the Nazi "super race" theory.

HELD TO GRAND JURY

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., March 6—Joseph Schwarm, 32, was bound over to the grand jury on a second degree manslaughter charge in the shooting of his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Betty Schwarm, 32, on Feb. 19. Prosecutor D. Dean McLaughlin said Schwarm told him he shot in self defense when the woman attacked him with a knife.

OHIO BOND SALES MOUNT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 6 — Ohioans bought $966,000,000 worth of war bonds in the Fourth war loan drive, the treasury announced. Of this total, $178,000,000 were series "E" bonds—those purchasable only by individuals. Total sales surpassed by 33 per cent the $672,000,000 Ohio quota.

PRIVATE RITES HELD FOR GANG LEADER

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 6 — In attempted secrecy, brief orthodox Jewish funeral services were conducted Yesterday at a Manhattan funeral home for Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, the fallen king of the rackets who died in Sing Sing prison's electric chair last night.

Only members of the Buchalter family were permitted to enter the undertaker's chapel, but reporters and photographers waiting outside attracted a crowd. Four policemen were stationed at the funeral home entrance.

At about the same time, services for one of Lepke's henchman, Emanuel (Mendy) Weiss, who was sentenced with him for the slaying of Joseph Rosen, Brooklyn candy merchant, in 1936, and who also was put to death last night at Sing Sing, were conducted at another funeral chapel.

The time and place of the funeral for the third of the trio electrocuted last night for the Rosen killing, Louis Capone, have not been announced.

Only Lepke's wife and stepson and a few other relatives followed his body to Mt. Hebron Cemetery, where another brief service was held.

HEADS STATE ARSENAL

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 6—Brig. Gen. Donald S. Pancoast, state adjutant general, has appointed Capt. Leo M. Scheiderer of Marysville as superintendent of the Ohio state arsenal. Capt. Scheiderer is commanding officer of Co. G, Ohio State guard. He will succeed Lieut. Col. Harry M. Potts of Columbus, who resigned recently after Pancoast reported a shortage had been disclosed at the arsenal. Three arsenal workers were suspended during an investigation. The job pays $3,600 yearly.

TWO OHIOANS KILLED

By The Associated Press

SIOUX CITY, Ia., March 6—Two Ohioans were among six crewmen of a B-17 bomber killed when the plane crashed in a cornfield five miles north of Merrill, Ia., Saturday, the Sioux City air base announced. Three bailed out safely. The Ohioans killed were 2nd Lt. John R. Everett, son of Mrs. Fanny Everett of Portsmouth, and Cpl. Charles Stephenson, son of Mrs. Edith Stephenson of Zanesville.

REPORT STALIN STRUCK TIMOSHENKO REFUTED

United Press Contradicts Story On Teheran Conference.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 6—The United Press issued today the following statement:

"On Feb. 14 the newspapers New York World-Telegram, New York Journal-American, Daily Mirror, Daily News and New York Herald Tribune published a dispatch of a London correspondent of the United Press in which it was said that allegedly at a reception on the birthday of Prime Minister Churchill in Teheran Marshal Timoshenko made a careless speech and Premier Stalin in order to silence him struck him.

"Simultaneously or next day the above mentioned newspapers and the New York Times published another dispatch of the United Press from Washington wherein President Roosevelt's statement was quoted denying this fictitious report of the London correspondent and pointing out that Marshal Timoshenko was not even present at Churchill's reception at Teheran.

"In connection with this the United Press finds it necessary to state the following:

"Actually, there was no incident at Churchill's reception at Teheran such as was mentioned in the report of the London correspondent of Feb. 14 and thus all this report is a fiction. The United Press has expressed its regrets that it circulated this fictitious dispatch.

"The United Press sent a telegram of apology to the Soviet government in which it is also stated that it took appropriate measures in order that similar reports should not be repeated in the future. The present denial is being given by the United Press in view of the unsatisfactory nature of the statement published Feb. 27 on this question."

AKRON MAN IS ELECTED HEAD OF OHIO EDITORS

Annual Meeting of Group Is Held in Columbus.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 6 — Members of the Ohio Associated Press wound up their annual two-day spring meeting yesterday with election of James P. Rosemond, managing editor of the Akron Beacon-Journal, as president to succeed Gene Moore of the Dayton Journal-Herald.

Other officers elected were Ernie Fiax, managing editor of the East Liverpool Review, first vice president; Paul Schrader of the Toledo Times, second vice president; George Smallwood, managing editor of the Columbus Dispatch, treasurer, and Burdette T. Johns, chief of The Associated Press service in Ohio, secretary.

The editors also unanimously adopted a resolution commending Kent Cooper, executive director of The Associated Press, for his "vision and leadership" in urging that any future peace treaties include guarantees of a free press. Another resolution commended the work of Associated Press war correspondents.

Speakers at the final meeting included Paul Bellamy, editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer and a director of The Associated Press; John Lloyd, president of La Prensa Asociado, Latin-American affiliate of the AP; Maj. Gen. James L. Collins, commanding general of the Fifth service command, and Capt. R. F. Fetters of the army air force.

Cleveland and Warren photographers carried off a major share of honors in the photocraft contest.

Report to the Nation:

When the 4th War Loan Ended–

Our Fighting Men Kept Firing!

News that the 4th War Loan goal of $14,000,000,000 has been reached and passed will cheer American boys from Italy to the Marshalls. But they will hear the news not only over sputtering radios but over the din of battle.

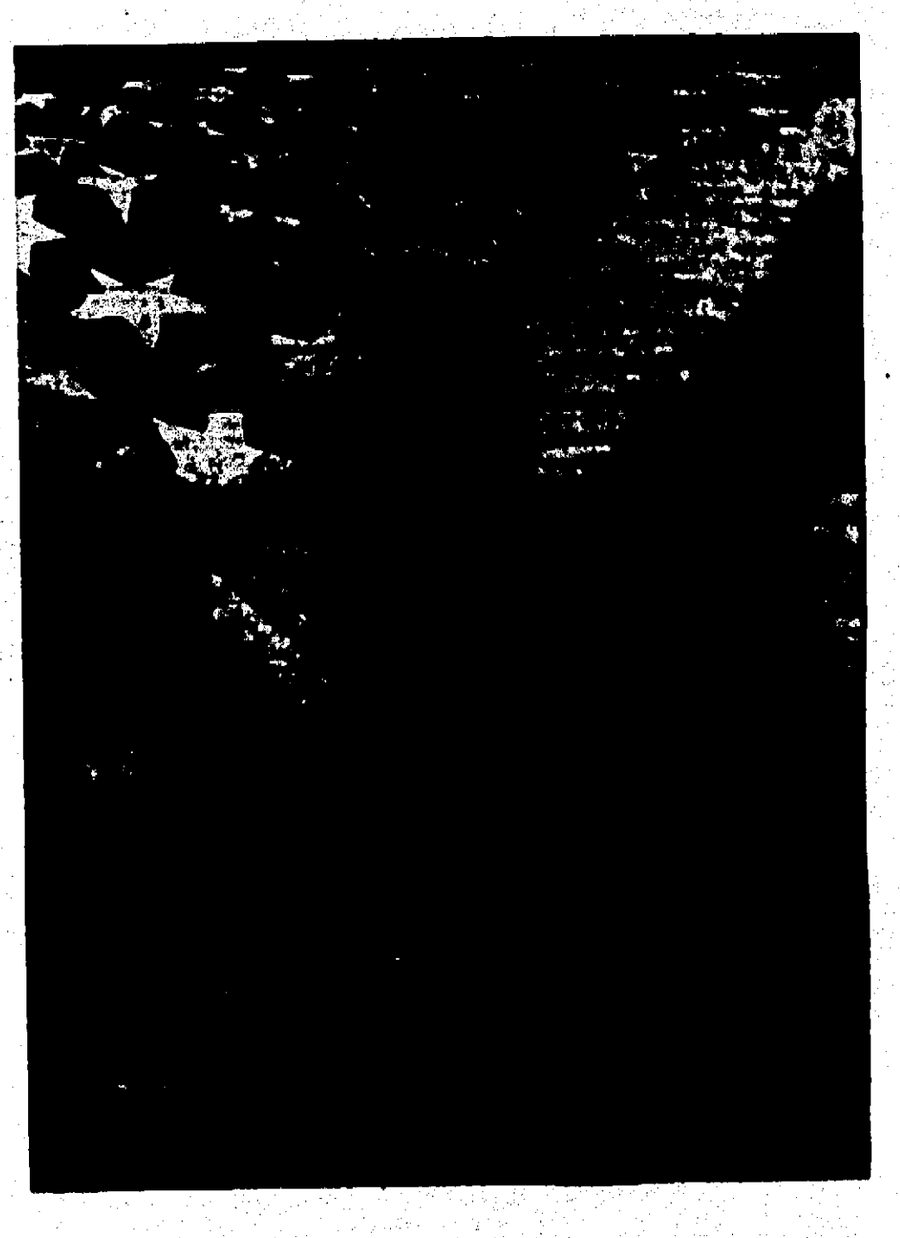
For the war still goes on with ever mounting fury. And that means that our War Bond buying must go on unabated, too.

To the millions who bought extra War Bonds in this drive, all America gives thanks.

To the 5,000,000 and more volunteer workers who contributed their time and abilities to help make the drive a success, your Government and your fighting men give thanks.

To the thousands of patriotic newspapers, magazines, radio stations and networks, members of the motion picture industry, the outdoor industry, advertisers and agencies, retail stores, banks, post offices, credit unions, building and loan associations, labor unions, fraternal organizations and farm credit associations, the Nation gives thanks.

Once again Americans have proved their determination to "back the attack" to the full.



But the attack goes on

Look at Italy. When the 4th War Loan drive ended at midnight February 15, the drive on Rome was still going on. American boys were still crouching in water-filled foxholes—clinging with bitter and bloody tenacity to a beachhead the Germans were equally determined to take back. Thus on the same midnight that witnessed the end of the 4th War Loan drive, the hands of the clock met like shears to snip the lives of scores of American boys engaged in the March on Rome. And the fight goes on.

Look at Japan. At the same hour that saw the end of the 4th War Loan, the "March of Death" that shocked all America to a realization of Jap brutality to American prisoners of war—that march was still going on.

To liberate those heroes of Bataan and Corregidor before it is "too late," other American boys stormed and took the Marshalls on the road to Tokyo.

But that March to Tokyo—still 2,000 miles away—that march goes on.

And we on the home front

—can we afford to stop now that the 4th War Loan is history, while our all-important job of supplying and financing this costliest war of all time still goes on? We have won a home front battle here, yes.

But just as our boys continue even more vigorously once they have established a beachhead, so we must continue to build on the success we have already achieved.

Our job goes on

The Bonds we bought last week and the week before are today's exploding bombs and shells, and spent bullets can never be used again. We must provide for tomorrow, too. The need for new guns, planes, ships and tanks still goes on.

For the war still goes on with ever mounting fury. So while all of those on the home front who have bought Bonds and have worked so hard to make the 4th War Loan drive a success have earned the Nation's thanks, none of us can afford to forget that our home front job, including Bond buying, also still goes on!

Labor Turnover

SECRETARY OF NAVY KNOX, testifying before the senate military affairs committee in favor of a national service act, has made a strong case. The reason for such a law, he argues, is not to get more people to work but to keep those already working from shifting employers. Labor turnover, he says, is the greatest wartime manpower problem, and it threatens to grow worse when workers begin to look forward to the end of the war—a situation expected to develop immediately after Germany's defeat.

Labor turnover, of course, is the result of ability to find jobs easily. It was supposed to have been minimized by job-freezing, executive orders and various other measures, but these, Secretary Knox testified, have not worked well. The secretary's particular interest in the problem apparently is due to the particularly high turnover of labor in shipyards. In navy yards, according to his statement, it was necessary to hire 214,000 workers to obtain a net increase of 32,000 during 1943.

Mr. Knox did not specify what he believes are the reasons for labor turnover, other than to declare that the drafting of men for military service was a relatively unimportant cause. The obvious reason, of course, is job swapping—the eternal quest for more congenial and more lucrative employment. This has been dealt with directly by employers by giving workers extra inducement to stay put, but apparently without marked success in shipyards and a number of other industries mentioned by Mr. Knox.

The fact remains that the cure he proposes for a specific condition is not likely to find acceptance, for reasons which are plainly evident. Despite labor turnover, production records on the whole have been satisfactory; a national service law would suspend the rights of free labor for the sake of imposing discipline on a minority. Mr. Knox's argument that a service law should be passed now to keep men and women on their jobs after Germany's defeat similarly fails to be convincing because it starts with a postulation that is at least debatable.

Nor does Mr. Knox fortify his claim that reduction of labor turnover is the real motive for a service act by going into the reasons why the already existing restrictions on job-swapping have failed. Until the public is certain there is no possibility of improvement in that direction, it will not be likely to adopt an alternative more drastic than anything ever proposed in this country before. Furthermore, Mr. Knox does not explain how a national service act would work, especially with reference to such moot questions as protection of individual rights; he does not specify how far government is thinking about going in transferring involuntary labor from one part of the country to another.

Like everybody else who talks in behalf of compulsory service for civilians, he asks them to accept the whole thing on faith. It is possible the United States may need a national service act, but the arguments in its behalf to date—and Secretary Knox has made the strongest one—are not compelling. Neither the people nor congress can understand yet why the job can't be done with the means at hand, if the means are used with a little more skill and force.

Russia's Navy

WHITE Russia is not ordinarily thought of as a naval power, the announcement that it will be given approximately 30 per cent of the surrendered Italian fleet is a pointed reminder of its present strategic naval position.

The Russian Pacific fleet alone contained more than 100 submarines and warships in 1940 and, like the Baltic and Black Sea fleets, was being augmented under an intensified building program. The Baltic fleet has been a vital part of the war to confine Germany. The Black Sea fleet has been heard of in all reports of action in the Crimea.

An accession of usable naval equipment at this time would add materially to Russia's ability to keep the retreating Germans off balance. It is by no means certain that the announcement of a three-way division of the Italian fleet will put Russia's portion in its hands in time to be used, but even if the division is a gesture, it seems a proper one.

Russia had nothing to do directly, of course, with the Italian campaign which led to the fleet's surrender, though Italy's surrender was made to it as well as to the United States and Great Britain. Apparently, the allied policy is going to be equal division of spoils. Russia no doubt will make as good use of Italian ships as the United States would try to make of whatever war equipment accrued to its account.

So They Say—

The world looks to us, rather than to Britain or to Russia or any other country, as the nation most capable of taking leadership in establishing the principles of permanent peace.—Sen. Burton of Ohio.

The people of the United States assume there is sportsmanship among all countries. There is not. The salvation of Europe and of the world will depend on how hard a bargain we drive at the peace table.—Karl Bickel, former president of United Press.

News Behind the News

Barkley Mail Indicates Break with President Hit Popular Chord.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 6—The profound inner effect of the Roosevelt-Barkley break was not made apparent to the country.

It was revealed, however to the 8,000 telegrams and 12,000 letters received by the Democratic floor leader after he resigned the President, as well as in the private comment here from outstanding Democratic leaders. One such leader said the incident will become as classic and decisive as Grover Cleveland's free trade break with congress over the Mills bill, which caused his defeat for re-election the following year.

The administration is moving energetically though quietly to prevent such a disastrous effect. Mr. Barkley is now circulating under his frank, a reprint of the political praise of the administration delivered earlier on the third anniversary in January of the Roosevelt third term.

Trend Disliked

Running through the Barkley correspondence, you will find a thread of fear existing throughout the country that constitutional Democratic government has been falling apart. Many citizens, noting the arbitrary centralized powers being wielded by the President, are genuinely (not politically) dejected.

They (mostly Democrats and Roosevelt supporters) think this nation will have difficulty surviving the pressure for dictatorship from within and without unless congress asserts a powerful influence. They see much of the rest of the world likely to develop that way even after victory, and note the tendencies of the President to assume responsibility for everything in a somewhat similar vein.

This was the theme of the personal popular approval of Barkley's stand, as reflected in his mail.

Some change of front for the Democratic campaign apparently now is being planned to meet this situation.

Passing of Republican Leader Martin will bring many important inner changes that will become noticeable in coming events. He was a wise and experienced man, and personally appeared to have a strong hand in shaping the coming presidential nominee.

He was not friendly with Willkie, even avoided his running mate here on several occasions. He trusted Dewey the strongest possible nominate.

His counsel was sought by all who wanted truth. On one occasion (it may now be told) he was even asked by the President to help solve the personal differences between State Secretary Hull and Under-Secretary Welles. Everybody who knew him, of whatever political hue, respected him.

First reaction to his passing is a contest for the Republican leadership, although not much is being said about it. The contest naturally lies between Senators Vandenberg, Taft, White and Brooks, although the choice will be either Vandenberg or Taft.

Some Favor Delay

Some Republicans wish to postpone the issue until after election and continue the existing set-up whereby White is acting leader and Vandenberg is acting chairman of the Republican conference, a position which will enable him to appoint the important steering and other committees.

A story is going around that Ohio's Governor Bricker was offered the vice presidential nomination with Willkie and turned it down. Undoubtedly, it is an erroneous guess by someone who knew that Bricker recently spent a day in private conference with Sam Pryor, the Connecticut Willkie associate. No common understanding, or at least no cooperative action between those two, is expected.

The first warming up political talk in a Republican cloakroom also has included a tale that certain eastern business interests have become doubtful of Dewey's ability to beat Roosevelt, indeed have doubts about Dewey himself, on the ground that he is independent. This may represent the view of some business interests, but most business authorities around here and New York are talking up Dewey as the best possible candidate.

Age Overtakes New Deal

Cabinet Now Older Than Supreme Court.

FACTS and figures assembled by United States News gives evidence that President Roosevelt's New Deal is showing its age. In 1933, the New Deal was a synonym for youth. In 1937, the President fought his battle to introduce younger blood in to the supreme court. In 1944, Mr. Roosevelt finds that the advancing years of his own official family are causing comment.

President Roosevelt was 51 when he took office. Today he is 62. The average age of his cabinet now is several years above that of the supreme court.

When Mr. Roosevelt took office, he selected a cabinet with an average age of 58. The oldest member was Secretary of the Navy Claud A. Swanson, not quite 71. The youngest was Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, 44.

Today, the average age of the cabinet is 64. Five members are above 70, or just turning that age. They are Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, 76; Secretary of State Cordell Hull, 72; Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, 70, and Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, soon to reach 70.

The "babies" of the cabinet are Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, 51, and Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, 52. The three other members are Attorney General Francis Biddle and Postmaster General Frank C. Walker, each 57, and Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, 61.

Six members of Mr. Roosevelt's "brain trust," influential in the first few years of his regime, averaged just under 40 in 1933. Those were Rexford Guy Tugwell, Raymond Moley, Adolf A. Berle Jr., Harry Hopkins, Benjamin V. Cohen, and Thomas G. Corcoran.

Advisers of the President today, include Bernard Baruch, 73; James F. Byrnes, 64; Admiral William D. Leahy, 66; Admiral Ernest J. King, 65, and Gen. George C. Marshall, 63. There also are Fred M. Vinson, 54; Samuel Rosenman, 48; Mr. Hopkins, now 53, and Mr. Cohen, now 49.

AMONG Democratic committee chairmen of the house and senate, a similar process of aging has taken place. The chairmen of 12 important committees of the house averaged less than 59 in 1933. Now the chairmen of these same committees average 71. Rep. Mansfield of Texas, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, is 83. Rep. Doughton, of North Carolina, of the ways and means committee, is 80.

Average age of 12 important committee chairmen in the senate has jumped from 61 in 1933 to nearly 68. Of these, Sen. Carter Glass of Virginia, chairman of the appropriations committee, is 86. Sen. Smith of South Carolina, chairman of the agriculture and forestry committee, will be 80 next August.

The supreme court now has an average age of 68, which is 10 years younger than the court of 1933. Only one member, Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone, now is above 70. He is 71. Justice Owen J. Roberts is 68. The others range down to Justice Wiley Rutledge, 49, and Justice William O. Douglas, 45.

Younger men recently have taken over in the Democratic national committee. Robert Hannegan, the new chairman, is 40, compared with Mr. Farley's 44 in 1933. Paul A. Porter, 39, new director of publicity, succeeds Charles Michelson, who in 1933 was 64.

In the army and navy, younger men have come to the front. Only three out of 59 brigadier generals named in the first few months of 1941 were under 50. Today, 56 per cent of all general officers serving with combat units are under 50. Fifteen generals on active duty are under 40. One is only 33. In the navy, too, the trend has been toward youth.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, March 6, 1934.

The house labor committee in Washington voted for a flat 30-hour work week for NRA industries as a means to spur the administration's program to reemploy at least 1,000,000 more workers in private industry.

The Greek government served notice on Samuel Insull, former American utilities operator, to leave Greece within 48 hours. He had made that country his haven to avoid extradition to the United States.

President Roosevelt named Judge Florence E. Allen of Cleveland to the federal circuit court of appeals. She was the first woman ever named a federal judge.

Harry Pierpont, a key member of the Dillinger gang, went on trial at Lima, charged with slaying Sheriff Jesse L. Sarber the preceding October in a raid that freed Dillinger.

Mrs. Josephine Moore, 67, former Richwood resident, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Pearl Tanner of Jefferson street.

A Chicago jury found Dr. Alice Wynekoop guilty in the "operating table murder" of her daughter-in-law, Rheta, and fixed her sentence at 25 years' imprisonment.

Samuel Wiest, 76, widely known Wyandot county farmer and stock buyer, died of heart failure as he sat in his automobile watching an auction at the Marion Union Stock Yards.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday, March 6, 1924.

A news dispatch from Washington revealed that the federal government, through its special counsel Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene, would ask the court to cancel the naval oil leases secured from the department of the interior by Harry F. Sinclair and E. L. Doheny.

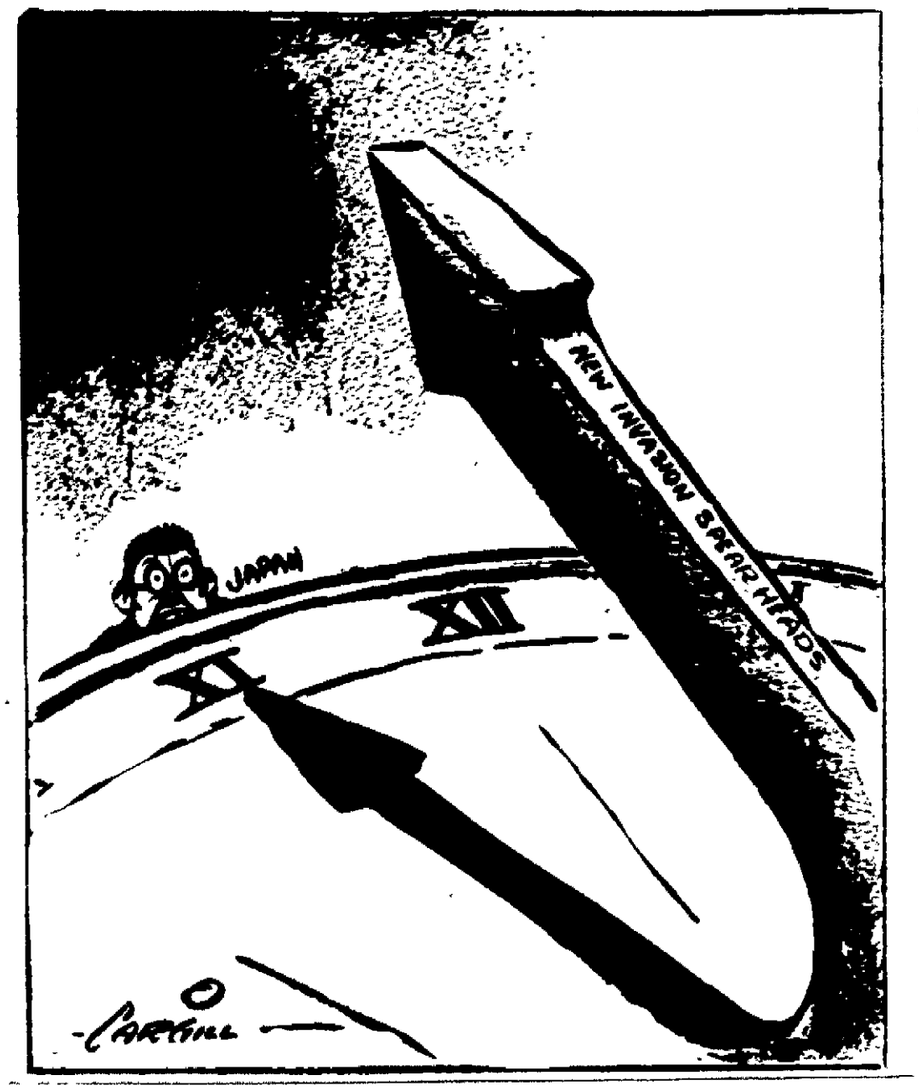
William B. Edgington, 22, of Mt. Gilead was killed when he came in contact with a high tension wire while working for the Morrow County Telephone Co. near Iberia.

The Marion Kiwanis club voted to establish an open-air camp for undernourished children. The action was taken after the plan of organization and maintenance of the camp was explained to the club by Miss Anna M. Doyle, representative of the state health department.

Members of the Midnight Euchre club gave a surprise party for Alberk Peacock of Belmont street in honor of his birthday anniversary.

S. B. Stowe resigned as Marion county farm agent after filling that position nearly four years.

"COMING EVENTS—!"



The Problems of Lasting Peace

By Herbert Hoover and Hugh Gibson

In this newly revised, up-to-the-minute version of their important book, The Problems of Lasting Peace, Mr. Hoover and Mr. Gibson explain the vital task confronting the United Nations as Allied armies close in on the enemy. The authors are eminently qualified to speak, Mr. Hoover as the thirty-first President of the United States and student of world affairs, and Mr. Gibson as former minister to Poland and ambassador to Belgium and Brazil.

HERBERT HOOVER

HUGH GIBSON

Theirs is a four-point "peace platform." These points, which drew attention at the historic Moscow conference, are:

1. Before firing ceases, the United Nations (the United States, Britain, Russia and China) must reach an agreement that the great victorious powers be appointed joint Custodians or Trustees of Peace.

2. Before victory over Germany, the United Nations must set up terms of a simple Provisional Peace to impose upon belligerent Europe the moment firing ceases, and later on Asia.

3. There should be a Transition Period from war to peace of a few years, in which the world can have time for deliberate solution of the long view problems of lasting peace.

4. Create a world institution to replace the Trustees after the foundations of real peace have been laid.

INSTALLMENT 1

The Dynamic Forces for Peace and War

OUR country is now engaged in the greatest struggle of its existence. All Americans, regardless of their past views, are now united in a single purpose. That purpose is to achieve victory and thereafter build a world where we can hope to live in peace and security.

There lie before us two great campaigns. The first is the military campaign to defeat the enemy.

But the second and equally difficult undertaking is to win a lasting peace for the world. Military victory alone will not give us peace. That was proved in 1918. There must be just as much preparedness for peacemaking as there is for war.

We have now had a generation of almost continuous wars, revolutions, and social and economic disorder, and the end is not yet. The world has seen such periods of explosion and degeneration before, separated by varying periods of more or less peace and human progress.

There have been three of these major widespread upheavals since the Renaissance. First was the Thirty Years' War, ending with the Peace of Westphalia in 1648; second, the forty years of war following the American and French revolutions, ending with the Congress of Vienna in 1815; and third, the world-wide wars beginning in 1914 and still raging. In each of these periods, civilization took on new impulses, new forms, and new directions. Today we are probably in the presence of a third period of great change.

Lists Seven Forces

It is too easy to attribute our present wars to individuals or groups of individuals or even to perverse nations. But great explosions in civilization do not have their origins in single men or a perverse nation. Such evil persons or peoples are themselves the product of deep-seated forces which must be stopped, allayed or controlled if there is to be lasting peace. Those men or groups only light the match to the train of powder which has been laid over the years before.

Seven dynamic forces that make for peace and war have been in operation unceasingly since the dawn of recorded civilization. These forces are: (1) Ideologies; (2) Economic pressures; (3) Nationalism; (4) Militarism; (5) Imperialism; (6) The complexes of fear, hate and revenge and (7) The will to peace.

Of ideological forces, one thing is certain: the ideas which involve human belief and faith contain a militant crusading spirit. Within them is inherent aggressiveness. Great and revolutionary ideas have within them at least a period where they are borne aloft by military action.

Christianity, Mohammedanism, the Divine Right of Kings, the Protestant Reformation, and Liberalism have all in their time marched with the sword. Now, new ideologies — Communism, Fascism and Nazism—are on the warpath.

The second dynamic force, economic pressure, is created eternally by the striving of men for food and living which they must have. Whatever may have been the weight of economic pressure in creating the World War of 1914, the economic aftermaths of that war were among the primary causes of the collapse of the world into this second World war.

Man and Battle

Nationalism (No. 3) has developed from the deepest of primitive instincts and emotional forces in mankind. It expresses itself in patriotism, which is itself built from the fundamentals of love of family, love of country, pride in racial accomplishments. Men fight for their hearths and their homes. They fight for their flag.

Of militarism, it is obvious that man is a combative animal. He loves contest. He hates easily. He is an egotistic animal, and in the mass becomes more egotistic. His beliefs in superiority are quickly transformed into arrogance. And that is one of the stimulants of aggression.

Another of the larger forces moving in all history imperialism—the movement of races over their racial borders. At one time, part of the motivation of imperialism was dynastic or racial glory; at another, zeal to spread religious faith. But in modern civilization its motivation has been chiefly economic. Imperialism has been present at every peacemaking and it will be there next time.

The forces of fear, hate and revenge play a large part in the cause of war. The greatest of these is fear—of invasion, of starvation, of economic disadvantage. Hate and revenge often spring from it.

Religion Inspires Peace

But against all the forces which make for war stands the will to peace. Ever in the background of men's minds is the infinite suffering of war. It kills or maims the best of the race. It brings the deepest of griefs to every home. It brings poverty and moral degeneration to victor and vanquished alike.

The Sermon on the Mount launched the transcendent concept of compassion, of peace and good will among men as a fundamental of the Christian faith. "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called the children of God" epitomizes man's noblest hope.

Despite all his violations, man has received from these spiritual concepts an undying inspiration to strive for peace.

In the next installment, we shall present our recommendations for a new approach to peace making.

Those Who Should Know Cla.- They Are Sure To Rattle Dow- on the Pacific Coast Eventually

By DAMON RUNYON

I SUPPOSE the thing farthest from the thoughts of the average citizen of the Pacific coast just now is the possibility of a raid on this region by the Japanese, though it is not long since the citizen went to bed every night with that idea in mind.

It is with no notion of discouraging the tranquility that thoughtful army and navy officers on the west coast express the belief that the enemy will most surely raid some part of the coast before the war is over. The officers think it will be by planes from carriers and they will come when we start bombing Japanese cities.

They state their opinion without excitement. They are merely sizing up the situation from an expert standpoint. They think such a raid will be compulsory on the part of the Japs whom their people at home are undergoing a pounding. Our officers think the raid will be strictly a suicide mission, because they know any raiders will be able to get back to their carriers.

I am mentioning this raid theory to show you that as far as the army and the navy are concerned the war in the Pacific is by no means over. They are not taking it for granted that the enemy cannot reach us or will not attempt to reach us, which is probably a pretty good attitude in view of the relaxed feeling of the people of the Pacific coast after a long period of tension.

FOR some months following Pearl Harbor, life was filled with many alarms for coasters, what with a Jap submarine lobbing a few shells ashore from off Santa Barbara and frequent alerts and blackouts and other incidents that kept the people apprised that they were living in a theater of war.

Once there was a great rat-tat-tatting of anti-aircraft guns around Los Angeles. Probably the oldest inhabitants in the years to come will relate that a covey of hostile planes was beaten off though as of today the majority of Angelenos are inclined to doubt there was any more provocation for the firing than vague shadows in the sky, unidentified to this hour.

There were blackout curtains in nearly all places of business that operated after nightfall and in all homes. Often the good burghers would sit down to dinner at tables over which only the light of candles cast a spectral glow, because the electricity would be chopped off at the source. Radios would go dead and use of the telephone was discouraged. Travel by automobile was attended by the hazard of being stymied in darkness, far from home.

WHEN Japan moved into the Aleutians, which are practically around the corner for a bomber from the big cities of the coast, the uneasiness of the coasters increased. The public prints set up a great clamor for the dispersal of these unwelcome neighbors, the incessant outcry of the newspapers undoubtedly stepping up the naval and military preparations that culminated in the ousting of the Japs from Attu and Kiska.

Then our troops and ships commenced kicking the Japs around in the Pacific and moving the war farther and farther away from the coast and finally it was decided that it was no longer an acute threat.

The lights came on again in southern California and elsewhere, and a sigh of relief went up from the citizens.

After nightfall now the streets are brilliantly lighted and the windows of the dwellings are all a-twinkle. Those who built bombproof shelters for themselves in the vicinity of their homes at the height of the excitement are using the same for storage and hoping no one remembers their original purpose. You think all danger of being conked by a bomb has passed from the Pacific coast—until you talk to an army or navy man.

Decorations Committee

By Truman Twill

Or if you've nothing better to think about, think about the decorations committee.

You hire a hall to stage a party and then you appoint a decorations committee to cut down trees and hang up the branches so it will look as if you had decided to hold the party out in the woods in the first place.

The members of the committee decide to paste blue paper and silver stars on the ceiling to make it look like a June night in the middle of the winter, then they all have previous engagements except the two people who are scared to death about getting up on ladders and they put up the stars.

They hang up trailing vines to look like the jungle, but all they do is make everybody wonder where all that stuff came from in the first place and what in blazes will they do with it afterward.

They blow up balloons to look like red apples, purple grapes, striped rubber balls and bubbles floating in the air, but no matter what the idea was the balloons look just like balloons and will explode if touched with a hot cigaret.

They drape everything with greenery and hang streamers from the chandeliers so the proprietor of the dump can have something worthwhile to sweep out the next morning to make way for the next bright idea gang moving in with more greenery and more streamers.

They work like ward heelers on election day to make windows look like blank walls and to make blank walls look like windows. They outwit Edison by hiding all the electric lights, then they borrow more lights to keep the place from being gloomy.

They promise each other the idea is to make the place look like a sultan's palace, the inside of a New York night club, or the deck of an ocean liner when they get through, then they turn over the whole job to the members with the strongest back and the weakest mind so they can criticize the ensuing failure with a clear conscience.

They get into fights, threaten never to speak to each other again, make cutting remarks, dislocate their bones and tear their ligaments. They sacrifice safety, paste, pins and health and all they have when they get through is a deficit.

But there always will be decorations and decorations committees. What else would all those crazy people do with all that energy if they couldn't hang up tissue paper, bunting and dead branches? They would have to be put on the refreshments committee and that would never do. They would have food strewn all over the place.

WAR LABOR BOARD RULES ON CONTRACT

Rules Membership Clause Not Freedom of Press Violation.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 6 — In a 2-1 opinion, supported by its labor members and concurred by representatives of industry, the war labor board (WLB) has held that a maintenance of membership clause in a union contract affecting editorial and reportorial newspaper workers is not a violation of freedom of the press.

The majority opinion held that while such a clause permits an employe to decide whether he wishes to joint a union, and since restriction is placed upon an employer's right to hire or fire a worker, the maintenance clause is not an abridgement of the freedom of the press in contravention of the first amendment of the Constitution."

The majority contended its position was supported by supreme court rulings and actions of congress.

Declaring that "unique considerations affect editorial and reportorial employes," the board said it will order a special clause to be inserted in any maintenance of membership provision ordered by it involving the American Newspaper Guild, a CIO-affiliated union of newspaper workers, which would state, as does a constitutional provision, that a reporter shall not "be subject to any control or coercion" because of religion, political conviction "or because of anything he writes for publication."

Industry members in a dissenting opinion reiterated their opposition to the general principle of maintenance of membership and stated, "in ordering maintenance of membership for the Newspaper Guild results may be much more far-reaching. The editorial writer or reporter can not help but feel certain restraint in his writing if he must maintain good standing with his union or lose his job as a result."

The opinion, which the board said will affect future considerations of newspaper cases, was issued specifically in the case of the Harrisburg, Pa., Patriot, which had objected to a WLB order to include maintenance of membership clause in the paper's contract with the American Newspaper Guild.

Argentina Clamps Down on United Press Service

By The Associated Press

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, The Argentine postmaster general in an order of March 4 has shut down for an indefinite period the United Press teletype circuit between Buenos Aires and Montevideo and ordered its affiliate, La Prensa Unida, to suspend all radio communication facilities for the transmission of news throughout Argentina.

The order said the action was taken because the United Press permitted an employe of Prensa Unida to operate the circuit to Montevideeo in violation of regulations.

Equal Pay for Mn and Women Asked

By International News Service

NEW YORK — Miss Jane H. Todd, Republican Assemblywoman from Westchester county, and long a fighter for women's rights, had her tongue in her cheek when she introduced two new bills in the assembly. But she is also serious about both.

One would provide that no man, in any industry, shall be paid at a rate less than the minimum standard for women.

The other proposes that women's pay be boosted to equal that of men.

Her idea is that the bills would be an economic stabilizer, not only preventing lower wage levels as women replace men gone to war, but making the job a better one for the man to return to.

She makes exceptions of domestic servants, farm workers and employees of charitable and religious institutions.

Miss Todd is influential in Republican state affairs, being co-chairman of her party's state committee.

M. P. Scores Coup on "Silent" Officer

By International News Service

PETERSON FIELD, Colorado Springs—The executive officer of the Peterson Field Military Police was in high good humor. He had just accomplished, he related gleefully, an M.P. coup of the first order.

"Served a lieutenant," he grinned, "with a traffic violation, and he didn't say a word!"

"In fact," he added happily, "he couldn't!"

The lieutenant, explained the M.P., "was in a dental chair having an impression made for some bridework. His mouth was full of wax, and he couldn't utter a peep — but brother, could he glare!"

Carrier Pigeon Comes Through Despite Attack

By International News Service

HEADQUARTERS, Panama Canal—"Honey," a carrier pigeon, is the heroine of the loft today after completing an important photographic mission from the Atlantic to the Pacific side of the Isthmus despite serious injuries.

Honey, who has a record of 672 successful flights, was one of four birds chosen for the task during maneuvers of the Panama mobile force. The quartet was released from a jungle position wearing special harness with light metal capsules for carrying undeveloped film.

The trainer, Sergt. Urban Kubat, of Portland, Ore., awaited anxiously at headquarters loft. Two days later Honey arrived, her back bleeding, her leg lamed, her feathers awry and the capsule showing long, vicious claw marks.

"Hawks!" said Sergeant Kubat tersely. "This is their breeding season and they are even more vicious now."

Honey was the only bird to return. The other, presumably, were victims of "enemy" air attacks.

TO CATCH CATFISH

By The Associated Press

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—For catfish fishers only: Best results, says an unimpeachable source, are obtained by using fiddle worms from Sand Mountain near Huntsville, Ala. Fiddle worms are procured, the source continues, by driving a hardwood stick 20 inches in the ground and then rubbing the top of this stick with a flat rock. "The worms, feeling the vibration, come to the surface of the earth. Some are as big around as a pencil, and some are more than 18 inches long. "I've caught plenty of 50 and 60-pound catfish with these worms," he says.

80 SCHOOLS CLOSE

By The United Press

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—Nearly 80 schools in Wyoming have had to close because of the teacher shortage. A survey of Wyoming schools by the state department of education indicates that the number of teachers and administrators has decreased about 10 per cent from the number employed in the school year of 1942-43.

COAST DRIVERS USING BUTANE

Solves Gasoline Ration Problem for Hundreds, But OPA Doesn't Like It.

By The United Press

SAN FRANCISCO — Gas-famished western motorists, who have used kerosene, benzine, cleaning fluid, clorox — everything but whisky, which they can't get either—to stretch their mileage across the west's wide spaces, may find the answer to their dreams if they follow the the example of California motorists.

These California motorists—some 1,000 of them — are road-happy today because they are getting all the "gas" they want at 10 to 14 cents a gallon and no ration coupons to bother with.

The answer is the "gas" called butane, technically known as "liquefied petroleum" and unrationed in California.

The motorists will remain happy unless irate OPA officials find some way of catching up with them.

Conversion of passenger cars to the use of butane requires a special carburetor and several other gadgets which are easily obtained, but for which a priority must be requested from the petroleum administrator of war, Harold Ickes. The priority, however, requires no certification by any government official. If the butane motorist plans to use more than 1,000 gallons a month he has only to have his dealer certify that sufficient butane is available.

Peyton Hough, head of the WPB automotive parts division here, estimates that conversion to butane costs between $250 and $300. However, butane will average about 14 miles per gallon even in a Cadillac, Lincoln or Packard.

The fuel, long advocated by some petroleum engineers as a motor fuel, is being used in hundreds of trucks. It burns with less carbon and is the nearest approach to a high octane fuel available today to motorists.

Fuels previously tried have always been found wanting. Kerosene was dirty and too slow-burning, cleaning fluid wouldn't pull the mountainous western grades, clorox just didn't work.

Butane wants nothing but OPA sanction. At present, OPA officials, aroused by this wholesale leak in California gasoline rationing to a series of grim conferences, have found no way of stopping the use of butane except to emphasize that butane-using autos are still subject to tire rationing.

Fire Marshal Kelly, head of San Francisco's fire-prevention bureau, has pointed out that the sale of butane, a highly explosive gas, is illegal in this city, and that motorists who have converted their cars for such fuel will face prosecution and possible seizure of their automobiles.

IN THE ARMY, glycerine compounds rank second only to alcohol as a solvent in medicinal solutions. Save your glycerine-bearing used kitchen fats. Turn them in regularly for cash and extra ration points.

PUT FINAL TOUCHES ON SOLDIER BALLOT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 6—Senate-house conferees put the final touches today on a service vote compromise that amounts to a legislative defeat for the administration's federal ballot advocates.

The bill probably will be called up in the senate Thursday and its backers predict approval—although they're ready for a substantial protest vote from proponents of unrestricted federal ballots for the armed forces.

An administration spokesman said the vote might be close but there was no disposition to reject the bill which emerged from three weeks of conference negotiations. It provides a federal ballot for use only if authorized by state law and to be made available only to servicemen who can't get a state absentee ballot by Oct. 1.

Both sides of the months-old controversy—federal vs. state ballots—agreed the bill will be the only service vote plan to get through congress this year, even should the President kill it with a veto. If this bill dies many congressmen are ready to rely on a 1942 service vote bill which leaves it to the states to set up their own war ballot laws.

Timken Gun Tube Plant at Canton Closed Down

"Because of a serious shortage, I am asking your druggist to use less paper. Won't you, his customer, also cooperate?"

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD
WASHINGTON, D. C.

TO HENNEY & COOPER,
Marion, Ohio

February 11, 1944

Tremendous war requirements such as packing overseas shipments of military supplies, plus inadequate manpower for cutting pulpwood, have made our paper supply the most serious material shortage today. As a consequence, production of wrapping paper for civilian supplies will be cut more than 50 per cent.

This naturally makes it necessary for the country to conserve paper to the greatest possible extent. I am therefore asking all retail groups to cooperate with us in meeting this emergency.

Druggists can be of great help by adopting a few simple measures such as the following:

(1) Don't use paper or bags for merchandise already packaged or in a box, bottle, jar, or can.
(2) Ask customers to accept small items unwrapped.
(3) Don't use large size wrapping paper for a small package.
(4) Urge customers to bring their own shopping bags and to re-use all paper bags previously furnished.

The cooperation of you and your customers in this important program will be a major contribution in meeting this serious war shortage.

Sincerely yours,
Donald M. Nelson
Chairman
War Production Board

OPEN church was observed for the marriage of Miss Jean Louise Swain, daughter of Rev. and Mrs Joseph B. Swain of 126 S. Seffner avenue, and Rev. Winston C. Bell, son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry L. Bell of Washington, D. C. which was solemnized in the Central Christian church Sunday. The ceremony at 4:30 was conducted by the bride's father, assisted by the father of the bridegroom.

At the altar the traditional seven-branch candelabra lighted two large baskets of white gladiolas banked with palms.

Preceding the ceremony a musical program was given by Mrs. Harry T. Williams, who played "Thine Alone" by Herbert, "One Alone" by Romberg, "Salut D'Amour" by Elgar, "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" by Herbert, "Indian Love Call" by Friml, and "O Promise Me" by De Koven. Mrs. Harry Weaver Smith, sister of the bridegroom, of Harlan, Ky. sang "I Love You Truly" by Bond and "At Dawning" by Cadman. During the ceremony Mrs. Williams played "Liebestram" by Listz and "Little Star" by Panze, and the Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding marches were played.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Mrs. David J. Cress of Denver, Col. and Miss Eleanor Swain, sisters of the bride, attended her as matron of honor and bridesmaid.

Corporal Raymond L. Bell of Cincinnati served his brother as best man and ushers were David Huggins of Marion and Harry Weaver Smith of Harlan, Ky. The candles were lighted by Miss Virginia Llewellyn of Marion and Miss Betty Brooks of Ironton.

Miss Swain wore a long sleeved gown of slipper satin made with long torso lines. The fitted bodice was topped by a marquisette yoke edged with lace. Fullness in the skirt, concentrated at the low waistline on either side of the front fell in a short circular train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a pearl trimmed tiara. Her only jewelry was a triple strand of pearls and a gold linked bracelet set with pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. The bridal bouquet was all white and made up of carnations and sweet peas.

The gowns of the attendants were of marquisette in light green and peach. They were identically made with full skirts, sweetheart neglines, and puffed sleeves. Mrs. Cress, wearing the peach, carried a bouquet of baby blue Iris and Miss Eleanor Swain, who wore light green, carried a bouquet of jonquils. Miss Llewellyn and Miss Brooks wore gowns of aqua blue and gold with corsages of kokomo carnations.

Mrs. Swain was attired in a two-piece navy dress with fuchsia accessories and Mrs. Bell, the mother of the bridegroom, wore gray with cyclamen accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of red roses set in varicolored sweet peas.

Immediately following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception at their home.

When the couple left for a short wedding trip, the bride was wearing a gray ensemble with fuchsia hat and black accessories.

Rev. and Mrs. Bell will make their home at 542 N. Broadway in Lexington, Ky. Rev. Bell will continue his ministry at the Antioch Christian church in Lexington in addition to his studies in pursuance of a B. D. degree at the College of the Bible in Transylvania college. Both Rev. Bell and the former Miss Swain were graduated from Harding High school. Mrs. Bell, formerly employed in the payroll department at the U. S. Rubber Co., will continue her studies at Transylvania.

Out of town guests were: Dr. and Mrs. H. S. Cress of Van Wert, Mrs. Arletta Wert, Mrs. Philip Houston and daughters Jean and Janet of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dillon of Shelby and Miss Irene Dillon of Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. Vinal Likens of Kirkpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brooks of Bucyrus, Mr. and Mrs. William McConnell of Fremont, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Anthony of Claridon.

Mrs. Madge Martin entertained the Dii Penates club Friday afternoon at her home on Franklin street. Each member brought a donation for the Marion canteen. Prizes for contests were won by Mrs. Frank Harmon, Mrs. J. D. Jacobs and Mrs. Pearl Pangborn. A dessert lunch was served by the hostess assisted by her granddaughter, Patricia Dodd.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schwaderer of 281 Forest street entertained at dinner Sunday in honor of the eighth birthday of their son, Robert Eugene. Guests were Roy Powelson, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hartley, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Schwaderer, Clay Powelson, Rev. O. E. Swigart, Mr. and Mrs. Don Schwaderer and children Donald and Billy, Mrs. Roy Everly, Mrs. Don Baker and Janet Marie Schwaderer.

Mrs. Anne Landes was welcomed as a new member of the Au Fait club which met Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Reba Gilmore of East Church street. Awards in euchre were won by Mrs. Mary Merrow, first and lone, Mrs. Mary Augenstein, second, and Mrs. Mayme Stevens, third. Mrs. Hazel Cook of Detroit was a guest and also received an award.

Mrs. Bernard Moloney will entertain the Women's Hospital board Wednesday night at her home on East Church street. Mrs. J. A. McNamara and Mrs. Charles Elliott will be assistant hostesses.

Mrs. Princess Martin was hostess when the Arbor Vitae club met at the home of Mrs. Clifford Swisher on Forest street, Friday afternoon. Mrs. A. G. Uncapher led devotions. Roll call was answered with names of noted persons born in March. Mrs. A. D. Dall presented current events and a reading was given by Mrs. A. J. Wintermute, Mrs. Mable Esarey of Alderado, Ill. was a guest. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Martin assisted by Mrs. Swisher.

Mrs. J. W. Hungate entertained the Ladies Embroidery Circle, Friday afternoon at her home on Girard avenue. Devotions were led by Mrs John L. Jolley and roll call was answered with Bible verses. The hostess served a 6 o'clock dinner. The next meeting will be April 7 at the Manor House with Mrs. W. H. Hoberman as hostess.

Harold Kates, seaman first class, was honored with a farewell party Friday night at the Hotel Marion, given by Mrs. Grace Klunk and the employes of the hotel. Seaman Kates is a former employe of the Hotel and has been home on a short leave from the Navy.

Mrs. Mary Conrad was presented a birthday gift by members of the Happy Hour Euchre club which met Thurday evening at the home of Mrs. Fanchon Burke of North Main street. Awards were won by Mrs. Gertrude Van Sickle, first and galloping, and Mrs Grace McCurdy, second.

Final Plans Made for Club Women To Hear Dr. Whyte

Final plans are being made today for the talk to be given by Dr. Robert B. Whyte, minister of Old Stone church in Cleveland, who will speak on "Snobs" at the March meeting of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs, Tuesday night at the First Presbyterian church.

Dr. Whyte, since 1935 pastor of the Old Stone church, the mother church of the Presbyterians in the city of Cleveland, has served the Presbyterian church in the U.S.A. with great and widely recognized distinction since 1923. As pastor of the First Church of Philadelphia from 1923 to 1935 and the First Church of Cleveland from 1935 to the present date, Dr. Whyte has been a preacher and a pastor of constantly growing power and helpfulness.

Few pastors have contributed in more significant ways than Dr. Whyte to important denominational committees, commissions and outstanding national programs and activities. He has been a member of the permanent judicial commission of the church and has served recently as this commission's chairman. He is a member of the department of church cooperation and union of the Office of the General Assembly.

Church authorities report that there is likelihood that he will be one of the major candidates for moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly when the election is held in May.

Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer, president, will preside. The program has been arranged by Mrs. Harold K. Mouser, chairman, Mrs. U. E. Hootman, and Miss Pauline Rusk, program chairman.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

QUINTUPLETS CATCH COLD

It promptly relieves coughing—makes breathing easier

Whenever the Dionne Quintuplets catch cold—their chests, throats and backs are immediately rubbed with Musterole. Musterole gives such wonderful results because it's MORE than just an ordinary "salve." It's what so many Doctors and Nurses call a modern counter-irritant. It helps break up local congestion in the upper bronchial tract, makes breathing easier, promptly relieves coughing, sore throat and tight, aching chest muscles due to colds.

WOUNDED HEAD FOR HOSPITAL SHIP AT ANZIO. A number of wounded American and British troops lie on stretchers aboard a landing craft as it pulls close to the hospital ship Leinster anchored offshore in Anzio Harbor. They are casualties of the bitter fighting on the beachhead below Rome. Medical corpsmen and Red Cross workers accompany them to aid in their transfer to the uncamouflaged ship. This is an official U. S. Navy photo.

German Beachhead Attack Repulsed

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, March 6—Allied beachhead forces have repulsed another small German attack, it was announced today in a communique which also said bad weather sharply reduced operations on all fronts in Italy.

Despite continuous rain and low clouds, fighter-bombers attacked shipping off the Yugoslav coast and gun positions on the Fifth army front without loss.

Except for the one enemy attempt to plunge into the beachhead lines, ground operations were confined chiefly to routine patrolling on all fronts. Eighth army troops threw back a minor German attempt to probe their lines.

The new German thrust against the beachhead lines came near Cisterna in the same general area where American troops quickly restored their positions Friday night after a battalion of Nazi infantry had advanced slightly.

American artillery and mortar fire scattered a small German force attempting the new drive even before it reached advanced defense positions.

Higher Dairy Subsidy Payments in August

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 6—Dairymen will receive increased subsidy rates during March and April, the war food administration announced, with Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Michigan producers getting 50 cents per hundred pounds as milk subsidies.

Farmers selling butterfat will get a flat subsidy of eight cents a pound, the WFA said.

The new rates are designed to prevent an increase in consumer prices by compensating dairymen for increases in production costs.

The WFA added the rates probably would be reduced from May through August.

NO FOX HUNT SATURDAY

The March lion prevented hunters of the Marion County Fish and Game Association from carrying out their scheduled fox hunt Saturday at Claridon, H. A. Rogers, in charge of arrangements, said the association has had several additional requests for hunters from farmers, but that seasonal changes would probably prevent further operations this year.

EISENHOWER PUTS ARMY ON IT'S GOOD BEHAVIOR

Cautions Officers and Men to Watch Conduct.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 6 — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, in a letter addressed "to every American serving under my command," has asked the help of all to see to it "that a very small minority does not damage the good name of the American army in the United Kingdom."

Declaring that "only a self-disciplined army can win battles," the allied supreme commander in this theater asked everyone, officers particularly, to be especially careful concerning:

"Improper use of motor transportation.

"Drinking in public places.

"Excessive drinking at any time.

"Loud, profane or indecent language.

"Slovenliness in appearance.

"Any discourtesy to civilians."

Eisenhower said it was vital that American forces work with the British "both" in the fighting services and in civil life on the basis of mutual respect, consideration and cooperation."

BERLIN

period—it represents the essential preliminary to invasion of Europe."

Last Wednesday was the only time in the last eight days that American heavy bombers have not gone out. Successively, they bombed the Pas De Calais area, Brunswick, southwest and northwest Germany, and yesterday hit Nazi air bases in southern France. Bombers and fighters yesterday knocked down 27 enemy planes.

Yesterday's American operations were executed by strongly-escorted forces of Liberators which struck into southwestern France to bomb the German air base at Cognac and targets in the vicinity of Bergerac. A communique said good results were achieved.

Radios Go Off Air

This morning the Germans' Hilversum, Bremen and Friesland radio stations left the air, hinting at another daylight aerial invasion of the continent.

While the Mosquitos bombed Germany for the sixth straight night, other intruders prowled around Nazi airbases on the continent. They shot down four German planes.

Four Liberators and five fighters were lost. Escorting Thunderbolts, Mustangs and Lightnings of the Eighth airforce and Mustangs of the Ninth air force destroyed 14 Nazi planes. The toll of the bombers was not immediately announced.

Official secrecy continued to screen details of the Saturday daylight blow against Berlin, the first by American heavy bombers. RAF Mosquitos hit Berlin for the second successive night.

An all-day offensive against the northern French coast by medium, light and fighter-bombers accompanied the Sunday Liberator stab. Enemy fighter opposition was reported weak, although there was some thick anti-aircraft fire.

The American raid on Berlin and accompanying attacks on other unspecified targets in eastern Germany, during which 15 German planes were destroyed, brought a U. S. fighter loss of 23, the largest to date for any operation over Europe. Fourteen heavy bombers were missing.

A U. S. headquarters announcement said one formation of Flying Fortresses reached Berlin and the fliers declared their bombs were dropped on the outskirts, but the German radio asserted last night: "In no instance has Berlin been flown over by North American bombers."

Division of Italian Fleet Is Warning To Nazis and Japs

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Few recent war transactions have created greater international speculation (and downright heartburning in the case of Italy) than the unexplained announcement that the Anglo-American allies are turning one-third of the Italian navy over to Russia.

The curiosity of Hitler's soothsayers, among others, is at white heat. Especially concerned, of course, are the Italians, and hard-boiled old Premier Badoglio has expressed pained surprise that his government wasn't even advised of the deal.

Well, one can understand the marshal feeling hurt, but there's small ground for surprise in his shrewd mind. While the allies hope to see Italy prosperous and happy after the war, she should understand thoroughly that she's going to pay dearly for her aggression.

Part of the price will be military impotence. Loss of her once fine navy is one of the penalties for helping cause millions of deaths and untold destruction. It's one of the penalties for shortening the lives of all of us by the number of wasted years which have to be devoted to war. Nine years if you count the last war, and the end isn't yet in sight. That's an eighth of man's span of life.

Main Point of Deal

It strikes me that the importance of this deal doesn't lie so much in the question of what the Soviet intends to do with the ships as in these two aspects of the situation: (1) The fact that the Italian navy is being split up, and (2) that it's being divided among the allies, apparently on the basis of share and share alike.

Naturally this tiny handful of ships isn't going to turn the war upside down. They might be helpful in Mediterranean operations, manned by Red crews. They would be particularly useful if they could be got into the Black sea and help clean the Germans out of the Crimea and turn their right flank in Russia. However, before allied ships can be sailed into the Black sea we must have Turkey's permission to pass through the Dardanelles and, more to the point, the Hitlerites must be cleaned out of the Aegean islands which block the entrance to the Dardanelles from the Mediterranean.

Anyway, of much greater importance is the fact that the allies are in process of carrying out their oath to render the axis powers impotent militarily and punish war guilt. Germany and Japan can see in this a preview of what's going to happen to their own navies and armies and airforces.

There's a Bigger Question

However, there's something even bigger than that involved in this disposition of the Italian fleet. It's a symbol of solidarity among the three dominant powers—America, Britain and Russia—a unity upon which the peace of the world most certainly depends.

DNB, the official German news agency, professes to see in this move a proof of the "devoted exactness with which the Anglo-Americans try to satisfy the Kremlin." That's a purposely nasty way of saying something which is a partial truth.

It isn't a question of "satisfying" the Kremlin. It's a matter of adjusting questions on the basis of one for all and all for one. Each of the allies is, according to his own talents, pulling his weight in the war. Each therefore is entitled to equal consideration with the rest.

Russia doesn't happen to be doing much on the seas, but she is waging mighty war on land. Therefore if she has any use for part of the Italian fleet, she gets it. Next time it may be Russia who will make a concession to one or both of the other major allies. Our greatest statesmen are agreed that so long as there is this give and take among the Big Three we are on the road to world peace; the moment the give and take ceases, we are in fresh trouble.

Burial will be made in the Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 o'clock tonight until the funeral hour.

SAVES GRENADE

By The Associated Press

CAPE GLOUCESTER, New Britain — Marine Private First Class Daniel Oliver in his foxhole thought he heard a sound by night in the jungle. Danny turned to his platoon leader. "Say," he asked, "how much does a grenade cost?" Startled, the leader made a hasty estimate: "I think it's $1.56." "Well," decided Danny, "here's where I save the government $1.56." He hurled a rock toward the spot from which he imagined he heard the noise. Only the uneasy jungle stillness followed, so Danny withheld the grenade. He explained later, "We had fought off three screaming Jap attacks that night, and the boys were naturally tense and on edge. I didn't want to set off a fusilade by the explosion of the grenade."

SOUNDS REASONABLE

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—The postoffice has discontinued using patriotic slogans on stamp cancellations to make delivery of mail to prisoners of war in Germany an easier operation. The action was taken after Swiss intermediary channels revealed that the Nazis were not distributing mail carrying slogans such as "V for Victory," "Win the War," and "Buy War Savings Stamps and Bonds."

WONDER WORK DONE BY METAL

Tantalum Ranked as One of Most Valuable Materials of War.

By International News Service

CHICAGO—Tantalum has become one of the most valuable miracle materials of World War II.

The bluish-white element, classified with the rare metals, is considered so important by the government that all supplies of the ore, tantalite, are flown from Brazil to the Fansteel Metallurgical Corp., of North Chicago, only tantalum producer in the world.

A Vital Element.

Some of the uses to which tantalum is put have not yet been revealed. There are, however, at least seven major industrial processes which require the element.

Most important is its value as a component of radio tubes. Huge power tubes, which operate at 3,000 degrees temperature, and are essential to radar, message transmission, naval fire control and similar functions are made possible by tantalum.

Second priority goes to chemical processes, where the metal is unexcelled in operations which include highly corrosive substances and heat exchange.

Third use is on the cutting edge of machine tools, where the metal increases durability and speed, decreasing the number of machines and laborers needed.

An Aid in Surgery.

The metal finds its fourth use in surgery, where it serves as plates, screws and pins for mending broken bones and bone defects. As a paper-thin foil and smaller than hair-width wire, tantalum is used to repair scarless sutures of skin, nerves and tendons.

Fifth value is in electrical equipment, battery-chargers, rectifiers, condensers, lightning arresters, and similar instruments.

It's sixth use is as a catalyst in the manufacture of butadiene, principal component of synthetic rubber.

Seventh, tantalum is used in optical glass to widen the refractory power of lenses, and is important in aerial reconnaissance and long-distance photography.

Fitted for Many Tasks.

Named for the mythological Tantalus, who thirsted for water and groped for food held just out of his reach, science found the value of the metal only after it solved difficulties in obtaining and controlling it.

The importance of tantalum depends on the fact that in the one metal are contained several desirable properties which fit it for many tasks.

Its high melting point, approximately 5,100 degrees Fahrenheit, marks its value in electronic tubes. The element also has ability to capture and hold stray molecules of gas inside the tube, a value which protects the vacuum and increases efficiency. Although several other materials hold one of these qualities, only tantalum combines the two properties permitting smaller tubes with greater efficiency and power output as well as greater durability.

Resists Abrasion.

Its power to resist abrasion combined with its high melting point is the key to its value in machine tools. The metal will outwear, sometimes by 10 times, the present high speed steels used in machine tools. A new development, tantung, has been developd for older machine tools which may vibrate and break a pure tantalum tool.

Combined with its resistance to corrosion is the element's ability to combine with oxygen in any liquid on contact to form a tantalum oxide film which resists the passage of an electric current. The combination enables it to increase the efficiency of electrical apparatus.

12,000 British Coal Miners Out on Strike

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 6 — Twelve thousand Monmouthshire coal miners struck today over a wage dispute, adding another grave threat to fuel production already said to have been affected seriously by an unofficial "slowdown strike" by thousands of other pit men.

The slowdown began several months ago as a protest against a decision boosting the minimum weekly wage from $16.75 to $20 but providing no increase in piece rates.

3 OFFICERS FACE TRIAL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 6—The Army announced today that three officers of the Army air forces would be tried April 3 by a general court martial at Cincinnati, O., on charges of neglect of duty in connection with faulty inspection procedures at the Wright Aeronautical plant at Lockland, O. The officers are Lt. Colonel Frank C. Granlich, Detroit, Mich.; Major Walter A. Ryan, Detroit, Mich., and Major William Bruckmann, Clifton, Cincinnati, O.

One Killed, 2 Wounded as Officer Runs Berserk

By The Associated Press

RIVERSIDE, Calif., March 6—At least one person was killed and two critically wounded when an Army officer from nearby Camp Anza ran wild with a .45 caliber pistol last night, police reported early today.

Police Chief Nestor Burle said he had reports two additional persons had been killed inside the Army camp.

The Army officer, not identified, was reported to have shot and killed a Riverside policeman named Simpson, after having previously seriously wounded Ray Schllegel, Riverside, in attempting to commandeer an automobile. The Army officer, a lieutenant, then was shot and critically wounded by Policeman E. S. Cole.

Military authorities would make no statement.

She is suffering "a sudden reaction after child bearing" of the type that normally follows multiple birth, hospital authorities said.

Four Children Perish in Fire Near Canton

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., March 6 — Four children of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Shalosky perished in a fire that destroyed a duplex dwelling on State Route 62 east of here Saturday.

The victims were Niva Jane, 6; twins Lawrence and Terrance, 4, and Mary Arlene, 2. The fifth child, Myrna Lou, 7, and Mrs. Theodore Richards and her two children, who occupied the other half of the duplex, escaped.

Flames and smoke prevented Mrs. Richards and passing motorists from rescuing the children trapped in an upstairs bedroom. The fire is believed to have been started when one of the children tried to light a candle.

Claridon and Pleasant Win, St. Mary Loses at Westerville

Claridon and Pleasant township high schools of Marion county won new laurels and Marion St. Mary Parochial capers suffered their first setback in Saturday games of the district Class B basketball tournament at Westerville.

Claridon, Marion county league and county tourney champs, won from Richwood, 34-32. Pleasant won from Edison, 32-22. Marion St. Mary dropped a hotly-contested game to Newark St. Francis, 34-31. In another Saturday game, Marysville won from Columbus St. Mary, 46-42.

In the St. Mary game, which was the final one for Norris, Gray and McGinnis, the Marion players nearly held their own with Newark in the first quarter, pulled ahead in the second to hold a 17-12 lead at the half, was trailing by only one point at the third quarter but lost out in the fourth. Newark will play Worthington Thursday night and the winner of that game will meet the winner of the Claridon-Pleasant game for the title.

St. Mary was credited with 11 of 56 tries for field goals and 9 of 12 free throw attempts. Langley and Winterstellar controlled the rebounds under their own basket most of the time, and the Marion team kept Newark from getting many tries for short shots. Duffy, Newark guard, proved to be the nemesis of Marion by tossing in a series of long shots that spelled victory for his team.

The Claridon-Richwood game was a thriller, with Dick Chapman sinking a field goal in the last 22 seconds that gave the Marion county team the victory. The lead changed hands 14 times. Allen Augenstein of Claridon scored 12 points and was credited with a good defensive game.

Pleasant township also clinched its victory in the final minute of action when Warren Selter, a substitute forward, plunked in a basket that downed Edison, 33-22. The Morrow county team held a 22-20 lead with four minutes to play, but Pleasant rallied and brought the count to 32-31 in Edison's favor. Then Selter scored with 35 seconds yet to play. The lead changed hands five times in the first half.

Wallace Tops Poll Among Democrats for Vice President

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., March 6—If popularity with the rank and file of a political party were the controlling factor in the choice of vice presidents, Henry A. Wallace would have, as of today, a commanding lead over other possibilities mentioned for the vice presidency on the Democratic ticket in the coming election.

Actual political practice, however, is to let the presidential nominee dictate the choice of his running mate or to leave this matter to party leaders in the traditional "smoke-filled room."

A survey of the rank and file voters of the Democratic party throughout the country reveals that Wallace not only is ahead in every section of the country, but, what may be even more surprising to party leaders, he has a sizable lead in the South.

Voters stating a preference for the Democratic party were asked which of the following men most frequently mentioned as vice presidential possibilities they would prefer. The national vote is as follows:

Henry A. Wallace	46%
Cordell Hull	21
James A. Farley	13
Samuel Rayburn	12
James F. Byrnes	5
Harry Byrd	3

Hawks Set Scoring Record, Miss Title by 1-Point Defeat

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 6 — Now that it's all settled, with Ohio State the undisputed Big Ten basketball champion, Iowa's Hawkeyes can contemplate the irony of their unhappy fate.

In a season in which they set a new conference game record of 103 points and carried off individual scoring honors with Dick Ives' winning total of 298 points, the Hawks lost a share of the title by a one-point defeat by an underdog Northwestern five as the season ended. The score was 42-41.

Early favorites for the crown, but hit hard in recent weeks by loss of Capt. Otto Graham and other regulars through Navy transfers, the Wildcats had succumbed to Iowa Friday, 45-39.

Galion and Kenton Teams Lose

KENTON, March 6—The Kenton High school Wildcats, with a season's record of five games won and seven lost, almost became the nemesis of a Findlay Trojan team that had won 16 straight games.

Playing their finest game of the season, the Kenton club was defeated, 39 to 37, after leading 27 to 14 at the half and 33 to 24 at the third quarter intermission.

In the only other second round game of play Saturday evening, Celina defeated Galion, 55 to 39, in a last-quarter flourish.

Next Friday evening, in semi-finals of the district Class A tournament being held here, Luna South will play Wapakoneta Redskins, and Findlay will meet Celina. The championship game will be played Saturday.

The summaries of Saturday's games:

McSpaden Returns To Winning Column in Gulfport Play

By The Associated Press

GULFPORT, Miss., March 6—Harold "Jug" McSpaden, par-cracking Philadelphia country club pro, got back into the winning groove to take first money in the $4,500 Gulfport, Miss., open golf tournament.

McSpaden shot a three-under-par 68 in the final round yesterday to bring his 72-hole total to 276, six strokes better than his nearest rival, Sammy Byrd of Birmingham.

McSpaden's victory was good for $1,000 in war bonds with a maturity value of $1,333.33 while Byrd's second place 282 won him $750.

One stroke back of Byrd was Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., veteran, who caged a 283 for the four rounds and won $550 in bonds. Tony Penna, Dayton, O., pro, was fourth with 284.

JR. HIGH SCHOOLS ARRANGE BANQUET

Join for Athletic Department Event March 23.

Central, Edison and Vernon Junior High school athletic departments are planning the first citywide Junior high athletic banquet for March 23 at First Reformed church.

Heretofore the three schools have had separate banquets for their own varsity basketball and football squads. This year they will be combined in order to bring boys together before they reach Harding High school.

George Gauthier, director of athletic activities at Ohio Wesleyan university, will speak. Harding's coaches Dewey Bohyer and Joseph Petrich will attend.

LAMB RETURNS TO O. N. U.

KENTON, March 6 — Clyde A. Lamb, former head of the department of health and physical education at Ohio Northern university, will return to that institution in April after a year as physical director of Oregon State Agricultural college, Corvallis, Ore.

Offers New Bill Aimed at Manpower Solution

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4—Undaunted by sidetracking of a similar bill and impatient because of "too much talking and too little action," Rep. Clare Boothe Luce (R-Conn), offered a new solution to the manpower problem today.

She introduced legislation to induct into the Army, for limited service in essential war activities, between 50,000 and 200,000 men, who would be non-fathers between the ages of 38 and 45 of 4Fs between 18 and 38.

The men, inducted through selective service, would be assigned to the Army, receive regular Army pay and wear Army uniforms.

They would be used for harvesting, mining, logging, tanning, and other seasonal activities, and in essential war and war-supporting jobs.

FIRST TO REACH GOAL

By The Associated Press

ALEXANDRIA, Va., March 4—Regional Director Elliot S. Moses of the American Red Cross announced the Auglaize county chapter of the Red Cross at Wapakoneta was the first Ohio chapter to exceed its 1944 war fund goal—$12,400.

LEAGUE PLAY-OFF SET FOR TONIGHT

Universal Cooler cagers and Huber Co. players will meet in the firsts play-off game of the County basketball league tonight at the Y. M. C. A. Playoffs will be decided in three games with a two-out-of-three winning bringing the final championship.

Universal Cooler, winner of the first round of the season, and Huber Manufacturing, winner of the second round, each have seven wins and no lorses to their credit. Both teams are evenly matched for tonight's contest, which promises plenty of audience interest.

In two preliminary games Huber Manufacturing girls will play Marion Steam Shovel girls and Fairfield Engineering girls will meet Caledonia girls.

PRODUCTION STOPPED

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, March 6—A sufficiently large bank of finished ammunition was given as the reason for the cessation of manufacture of .30-caliber carbine small arms ammunition at the nearby Kings Mills Ordnance plant. The order, issued by Maj. J. S. Hurgen, commanding officer, is effective on or before March 31.

Field of Contenders for State Basketball Crown Cut Sharply

By HAROLD HARRISON
By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 6 — The field of contenders for the Ohio High school basketball championships dwindled sharply last week but most of the top favorites moved serenely along in sectional and district tournaments.

The principal casualties were in the class B tournaments.

Covington, unbeaten in regular season play, was knocked off by Tipp City and the Tipp City boys came right back to lick Enon, another highly regarded quintet.

In the class A tournaments such unbeaten teams as Newark's defending champions, Martins Ferry, Findlay and Cincinnati Xavier took forward steps.

After barely getting by Marion Harding in its first tournament game, Newark recovered its form and breezed past Mount Vernon, 56 to 24, and Linden-McKinley of Columbus, 46 to 24.

High scoring Martins Ferry also had an easy time, drubbing Bridgeport, 56 to 23.

Findlay has considerably more trouble but managed to stay alive with a 39 to 37 conquest of Kenton. Cincinnati Xavier won easily from Walnut Hills, 47 to 16.

Canton McKinley, which didn't lose a game until the final two contests of its regular schedule, got back into the winning groove by drubbing Canton Lincoln, 52 to 27.

One of the hottest of the class B teams—Ashville—continued to sport a perfect record by thumping Plain City, 41 to 32. Akron Ellet, another B team with designs on the state title, clinched its place in this week's district competition.

Saturday's scoring honors went to Marietta and Tiltonsville. Marietta rolled up an 84 to 33 count on New Lexington and Tiltonsville did almost as well in walloping Shadyside, 75 to 30.

There also was a liberal sprinkling of flashbacks to the old defensive type of basketball. Hillsboro and Ironton collected only 36 points between them with Hillsboro winning, 19 to 17. The B tournament at Cincinnati had two of those games, St. Bernard defeating Deer Park, 24 to 17, and Fairfield squeezing past Green Hills, 20 to 19.

Snatches of Sports

NEW YORK, March 6 — Remember way back when baseball fans used to get steamed up because a few prominent players hadn't signed their contracts by this time of the year?....Well, there's still a week or 10 days before 1944 spring training starts and a lot more players are unsigned than signed....Not many are hollering for more dough, but you'll notice that it's guys like Spud Chandler, Joe Gordon, Billy Herman, Stan Spence, Ray Mack, Doc Cramer and Dick Bartell who are either talking about sticking to their war jobs or aren't saying anything....Washington has 34 players signed, the other clubs only 12 or 15 apiece....The club owners, of course, claim it's just a sign that a lot of boys are uncertain about their draft status and that they'll bring them papers when they report, but still it starts you wondering.

Slight Case of Confusion

Just as a sample of what the major league magnates are up against in their efforts to line up their 1944 squads, a Newark, N. J., paper yesterday ran a story quoting Eddie Mayo as saying that he had given up baseball "at least for the duration"....Two columns away on the page appeared a wire story listing eleven players who had signed Detroit contracts for 1944 .... One of them was Eddie Mayo.

150 TRUCKERS HERE GET WAGE BOOSTS

Share in National WLB Ruling Affecting 12 States.

Approximately 150 Marion men employed in over-the-road operations, hauling in and out of Marion, will share in a recent labor board decision granting an hourly increase in wages, Don Martin, president and business agent of the local union, AFL, announced today.

The cents-an-hour increase is retroactive to Nov. 16, terms of a decision made by the labor board last month and approved for Ohio late last week. Ohio was part of the area affected by the decision. The drivers on a mileage basis will receive an increase of seven-tenths of a cent, from the present rate to next July 1, when the rate will be boosted to 3 cents a mile, Mr. Martin said. The decision affected some 40,000 drivers in 300 locals, including 150 drivers in the Marion area, he said. He added that 90 per cent of the drivers in the Marion area would be on a 97-hour week basis as a result of the increase. The drivers affected are employed by approximately 12 concerns, he said.

Mr. Martin also announced an agreement has been signed by the union with the Anthony Trucking Co. of 1185 Cheney avenue, affecting five drivers employed in over-the-road operations.

Wheat Price Gaining But Still Below Parity

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 6—Although the price of wheat has advanced substantially over the past year it is still below parity, grain traders assert. Parity has risen along with wheat and remains a few cents a bushel above the bread cereal quotation.

(Parity is a formula representing a return to farmers giving them purchasing power equivalent to that of 1909-14.

The national parity price of wheat on Feb. 15, according to the department of agriculture, was $1.50 a bushel. The same day the national average price for the grain was $1.46.

During the past year the actual price has slowly gained on the parity level. A year ago parity was $1.41 and actual price $1.20.

MONEY STOLEN

Mrs. Ralph Camm of 151 Scioto street reported to city police Saturday that $45 had been stolen from her home. The money had been placed in the envelope in which she received her soldier-husband's allotment. She also told police that a neighbor girl had noticed a strange man entering the house at about noon Saturday.

Piles Are Never 'Mild'

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only positive cure. This can be done without knife, drugs or loss of time from work.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, March 6 — Rites were conducted this afternoon at the Wise funeral home for Lt. William Russell Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Palmer, who died of injuries received in an automobile accident near Camp Sutton, N. C., Thursday.

Lt. Palmer, recently advanced in rank, was married January 6, this year to Miss Lola C. Unsworth of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Palmer was in Washington at the time of the accident. Other survivors are a sister, Mrs. Philip Pollock of Bucyrus whose husband is in service in Arkansas.

Lt. Palmer was born in Bucyrus March 27, 1920 and was a graduate of Bucyrus High school of the class of 1938. He was employed at the Gledhill Road Machinery company at Galion before entering the army.

Mt. Victory Officer Wins Silver Star in Europe

Special to The Star

KENTON, March 6—Captain William E. Wagner, son of Mrs. Anna F. Wagner of Mt. Victory, recently received the Silver Star award for gallantry and intrepidity in action outside the line of duty. While acting as forward observer in an artillery unit, Capt. Wagner moved forward under enemy mortar, artillery and machine gun fire, and continued to skillfully direct the fire of his unit, the citation set forth. He previously had been shelled three times at various other observation points. At the present time he is in the United Kingdom training troops for the invasion of occupied Europe.

Co. H All Set For Tuesday Inspection

After staging a final "clean-up" of the Armory Sunday, Capt. Carl Ebert voiced the belief today that Marion's Co. H would be well equipped to hold first place in the regiment in the federal inspection scheduled for tomorrow.

Capt. Donald L. Caldwell of the Fifth Service Command will be inspecting officer. Whether the local unit will hold first place depends largely on the attendance, Capt. Ebert said.

Two dinners, one at Harding Hotel for the officers and the other at the Spot Restaurant for the non-coms of the Co. H, have been planned for 5:30 p. m.

Col. Earl W. Brannon of Columbus, regimental commander and Lt. Col. and Mrs. Albert C. Rankin of London are expected to be present with Camp Capt. Caldwell at the hotel dinner. Capt. Ebert, Lt. Elmer E. Smith and Lt. Dale Price with their wives and the two medical examiners, Drs. Thomas H. Sutherland and Frank L. Thomas will also be present.

The inspection of records and papers will start at 2:30 p. m. and review of personnel will be at 7:30. Families of the members and others interested in seeing the inspection.

Following the work period yesterday, a competitive shooting match on the Armory range was held under the supervision of Sgt. Timothy Fahey. Only three targets were used because of the scarcity of time. First place with a score of 60 ponts out of a possible 75 was taken by Pfc. Donald Neimeister. Three members, Pfc. Harold Grant, Pvt. Henry Boles and Pvt. Wilbur Postle tied for second with a score of 59; Sgt. Harold Dickerson ranked third with 58 points.

lines was their presence made public.

Brig.-Gen. Merrill marched out of the Burma jungle nearly two years ago, and now is leading jungle-trained men back in to support the Chinese allies in re-winning northern Burma so a new Burma road can begin carrying supplies to Chinese forces and to Maj.-Gen. Claire L. Chennault's air force.

Some of the jungle-hardened American troops were gathered from Puerto Rica and Panama as well as the southwest Pacific.

Their first march from a railhead in northeast India carried them 117 miles into the jungle. Their next operation carried them eastward, southward, then eastward so they came up at the Walawbum trail and road crossing southeast of Maingkwan.

Like the Chinese troops, they are cut loose from all bases, and are depending upon air supply to bring them needed supplies.

House Saved from Fire as Wind Direction Shifts

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, March 6—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Greenick and their two children, are thankful for a change of the wind's direction which diverted flames from a burning summer kitchen in time to save their dwelling four miles east of Bucyrus, early Saturday.

The family fled from their home in their night clothing in sleet and rain after being awakened by the crackling flames which were shooting 20 feet into the air when the fire was discovered.

The changing wind blew flames toward a work shop which quickly became ignited and was destroyed. A rear enclosed porch, siding and the roof of the residence was damaged.

Farewell Party Held For Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Young

Stassen Backers After Wisconsin Delegates

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 4—Supporters of Lieut. Commander Harold E. Stassen served notice today they intend to demonstrate by an active campaign before the Wisconsin primary April 4 that they are putting the former Minnesota governor in the Republican presidential race for keeps.

Announcing he would make two speeches, March 13 at Madison and March 14 at Milwaukee, Senator Ball (R-Minn) said he and Gov. Edward J. Thye of Minnesota, Stassen's successor, would spearhead a Wisconsin drive for delegates.

When EXHAUSTION leads to Headache

200 AT SALVATION ARMY DEDICATION

Series of Services Opening New Quarters Begun.

A crowd estimated at 200 persons visited the new home of the Marion Salvation Army Corps at 141 North Prospect street Sunday afternoon when open house was observed. Here for the dedication of the new quarters were Major and Mrs. Harold Zealley of Cincinnati, divisional commanders, Major and Mrs. Horace Weatherly of Cincinnati, divisional secretaries, Brigadier and Mrs. Albert Pickering, Columbus City commanders, Major Walter Cruickshank of Columbus, in charge of the men's social service department of the Salvation Army, and the Columbus citadel band.

Services will be held tonight and throughout the week including next Sunday at the citadel.

Major Zealley conducted the dedication ceremony Sunday afternoon and the sermon was delivered by Brigadier Pickering. Music throughout the day was furnished by the Columbus band. Sunday evening members of the advisory board, their wives, husbands and friends, together with the visiting officers, Captain Mary Nisiewicz and Lt. Marjorie Sipley, officers in charge, met for supper at the Y.M.C.A. C. Z. Zachman, chairman of the Advisory board, presided. Informal talks were given by the guests and board members. At this meeting former fire chief T. J. McFarland, an active member of the Advisory board for many years, was made an honorary member, and Chief Owen Sifritt was made a member of the organization.

"The Advance" was the theme of Sunday night's service in which the visiting officers took part. Five persons responded to an altar call. In the morning the Columbus officers conducted the monthly service at the Women's reformatory at Marysville. Sunday was observed as Prison Sunday by the Salvation Army throughout the nation.

Hog Price Advance Fails To Materialize

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 6—According to past performances of the hog market, the trend for higher prices should be in full swing now, but the extended heavy marketward movement of swine has retarded the price upturn.

Last year prices started to rise immediately after mid-December. By January the average price paid for hogs at Chicago had gone up $1 a hundred pounds and the first week in March 1943 the average price was up to $15.70 as compared with $13.50 the same week in December.

This year heavy swine runs prevailed through most of February and the up-swing in prices was slow in starting. However, during the next two months gains probably will take place. On March 1 the drove cost at Chicago was $13.50. Some days during December and January drove cost was as low as $12.91.

YANKS, REBEL UNITE IN WAR

Fortress Crew Gets in Hefty Blows Despite Crippling Attack by Nazis.

By International News Service

A FORTRESS STATION, England.—The crew of the Flying Fortress "Nine Yanks and a Rebel," who had been engaging in a bit of bantering about the Civil war, took time out recently to play heroic roles in the present grim conflict.

The locale was high in the sky above central Germany. The raid was one of the most spectacular of the war. The Luftwaffe put everything they could find in the air to meet heavy Fortress attack.

The good natured kidding went on during the flight into enemy territory. The "Rebel," right waist gunner Staff Sergt. Ray V. Hopper (311 Hixson Pike) of Chattanooga, Tenn., was doing right handsome at a rehash of Civil war battles. The "Yanks" were doing alright, too.

Enemy Fighters Appear.

A short time before the Fort reached the target area a mess of German fighters appeared. There were 30 in all—Me-109s, ME-110s, ME-210s and JU-88s. They swept in on the group in which the Nine Yanks and a Rebel were flying to engage it in 20 minutes of fast and furious fighting.

It happened that the fighter escort that day was busy elsewhere—which meant no fighter support whatever. Tail Gunner Staff Sergt. John P. Basye, of Indianapolis, Ind., opened the first round with a well directed burst at an ME-210 which had just lobbed a murderous rocket at his ship. Fortunately the rocket misfired, but Sergt. Basye didn't. The 210 went into a smoking spin.

Enemy Presses Attack.

The pilot, Second Lieut. William N. Hahn, (23 Sagamore Road), of Bronxville, N. Y., cleverly trimmed the ship, though he was losing altitude. The damage, however, forced him out of formation. He managed to gain cover under a low squadron. The German fighters, reluctant to lose what appeared at first to be a certain kill, pressed home their attack. It continued up to the moment the bombardier, Second Lieut. Robert A. Grumm (2105 North 35th Street), of Milwaukee, Wis., dropped his bombs.

Releasing the bomb weight made the ship easier to handle and Hahn was enabled to bring it under control. He sought to regain his original position in the lead squadron, but found that another Fortress had taken over this position. He was maneuvering for another position in the lead group when another group of German fighters sensed that he was having trouble.

Bring Day's Score to Four.

The attack equalled the first in intensity and continued until Hahn had flown his ship past the enemy coast. Three gunners aboard the hard pressed Fortress made the attack costly to the enemy.

Left Waist Gunner Staff Sergt. Charles E. Plecht, of Center Hall, Pa., accounted for an ME-110, which blew up under his fire.

The engineer gunner, Staff Sergt. Hunter (the Rebel) brought down an ME-109.

And Ball Turret Gunner Staff Sergt. Floyd M. Paurk (410 North Shawnee) of Shawnee, Okla., bagged an ME-210.

FISHING TACKLE MISSING

John Berry of 356 Lee street reported to city police Sunday afternoon the theft of fishing equipment valued at approximately $30, saying he believed the articles had been stolen last November when his garage was entered.

MISCONDUCT CHARGED

Clifford Long, 27, of 331 Glad street and James F. Harris, 31, of 286 Owens street were arrested by city police at 10 p. m. Saturday and charged with disorderly conduct. Harris posted a $50 bond and was released. Both were to appear today for a hearing.

MARION MAN FINED

Clarence Lowry, 57, of 630 Cheney avenue pleaded guilty in municipal court Saturday to an assault and battery charge, filed against him by his wife, Mrs. Irene Lowry, and was fined $25 and costs. He was arrested by city police Friday.

GRAINS DEVELOP WEAK UNDERTONE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 6—A weak undertone developed in grains today and prices drifted lower in a quiet trade. Largest loss was experienced by rye, which was down about a cent at times. Commission houses were not active in the market and most of the activity was provided by local traders.

Additional rain and snow over parts of the grain belt caused some of the selling in all pits. There was nothing in the general run of news to create an important price move in either direction. Grain men said the market apparently was awaiting some new incentive before any pick-up in volume could be expected.

U. S. WORK CRISIS SEEN BY COMMITTEE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 6—The threat of an unemployment crisis in the not too distant future was envisioned by members of the Truman committee today unless government obstacles to civilian production are removed.

Zone of our major jobs now is to keep in close touch with war contract cancellations and cutbacks to see that factories that could manufacture urgently-needed civilian items are not left idle,' Chairman Truman (D-Mo) told reporters.

In its third annual report, the committee declared the nation "must not prevent the use of surplus commodities and thereby create unemployment."

The report opposed the administration-indorsed national service law and recommended instead "a clear understandable government labor relations policy."

To avoid unemployment that may come as a result of an accumulation of cutbacks, the committee suggested that manufacturers not located in critical manpower shortage areas—who have not been offered war contracts—be permitted to make civilian items "of their own selection."

The committee held out little hope for an early resumption of automobile manufacture since this construction would conflict with war needs.

A war production board official predicted last night the report would stimulate its "test tube" plan for permitting small plants to re-enter civilian production, a program which has encountered military opposition.

Total economic costs of occupational accidents in this country were approximately $2,200,000,000 in 1942.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

AT MY remark, Hugh Grantland turned and ran his eye over the contents of the shelves on the left side of the hidden door in my father's sitting room. When he turned back to me, the gray eyes were sparkling with the interest of a connoisseur of fine wines, liquors and bouquets.

"For a man who hates social warm drinks a year, as he told Lee Chow, he has a prize collection there."

His Motto

"I believe my motto is 'prepared-ness,'" I said smiling. "This is a collection of years, and it has served many emergencies, both medicinal and social. On the right you will see cherry cordial, mud-slinger and crusher gold."

He turned his head again, and his eyes roved over the bottles and cupboard portions of stand-by remedies for colds, mud-slinging, fevers, and others prescribed for my father's special use.

"A complete pharmacopoeia," he said approvingly. "We have come a long way in that way from our, but not to complete a collection of this. Do I understand that I am welcome to use any of it?"

He glanced toward both shelves, and then fastened one of his rare gazes at me.

"I'll promise not to make any moral or solitary depletions," he said. "But I shall be glad of some of this for Lee Chow. He needs it. Just now, I'd like to give him a good hot lemonade with a 'stick' in it, if that meets with your approval. I owe to your morning knowledge. I remember it very well."

Memories

I did not reply to this pull at my memories, but I too "remembered well" the occasion when Lee Chow and I had pulled Hugh through dangerous illness back to health, and another occasion when I had helped bring Lee Chow back from what seemed to be inevitable death.

"You know what Father would say," I said with emphasis,—"that you are more than welcome to everything here, both for yourself and for Lee Chow. In fact I think that he would enjoy thinking you were drinking a toast to him. And now I will get you the lemons and the extra linens for your own bed."

I hurried out of the apartment before he could answer, and when I had shut the outer door behind me, stood still for a moment with fingers tightly clasped, "recharging my will," as Galsworthy's beloved character, Aunt Anne, has taught so many of us to do.

For something vague, intangible, in Hugh Grantland's manner and the nuances of his voice had made me wonder if he were trying to make me recall memories of those old days which were far better left in the oblivion to which I, at least, had consigned them long ago.

Forgotten

But had he, too, forgotten? or, was he tentatively exploring again in the "limbo of forgotten things?" — far-better-forgotten things, I amended, as the queries whirled around in my brain. Then I pulled myself together with the gratifying remembrance that there was nothing about those long past days which, even if brought out into the romantic light of memory, could affect the wonderful understanding which Dicky and I have achieved after years which have held heights of happiness, as well as depths of despair. My husband knows everything about the romantic and melodramatic adventures which Hugh and I shared because of our work for my father, and I am sure, too, has packed it away in a box labeled "Finis."

"Everything?" my Puritan conscience asked and I tried to make my answer silent, but rebuked, it said it firmly.

"Everything," I told myself that family likeness in features and some gestures and a gentleness which could neither be translated into tangible terms for reference, nor wholly forgotten.

Work

But I also told myself sometime must resolve — that work, not memory, must occupy me before me, and I hurried swiftly to the kitchen, caught up a nail from upstairs, to my linen closet, from which I took the things necessary for transforming the studio room in my father's living room into a card table and.

When I pressed on the door, he knew at once immediately, and with a little exclamation of surprise, took the armful of bedclothing from me.

"Why didn't you have me get some?" he asked angrily.

"For two reasons," I replied curtly. First, because I don't want you in the hall. Second, because they're not heavy.

"Here are the lemons," I went on hastily. "And won't you be content with my assurance that Lee Chow does not need a physician just now?"

"I agree with you," he said. "I just looked him over carefully."

"Then," I said, with my hand on the door knob, "may I ask you not to come out of this suite again, until I tell you it's safe?"

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Children's Sleep Habits.

THE MOST up-to-date pediatricians do not seem to have any modern ideas about sleep habits of children. Nature settled that for them, and the babies of Mr. and Mrs. Keep-in-Style around the corner are doing the same thing today, so far as their sleep patterns are concerned, as baby Cain and baby Abel in the suburbs of the Garden of Eden.

Sleep is almost continuous during the first weeks of life. The baby wakens only for food and bathing. The nervous system is not fully developed, and the newborn is protected from wakeful sounds. Wakefulness and restlessness in the newborn are distinctly abnormal and the causes must be discovered.

The sleep schedule for older children: second and third months—20 hours a day; from fourth to sixth month—16 to 18 hours a day; from sixth to twelfth month—12 hours at night, 2 hour nap in the morning and 2 hour nap in the afternoon.

During the second year the baby should sleep 12 hours at night and have at least one two hour nap during the day. Children three to five years old—12 hours at night and an afternoon nap; six to eight years—12 hours at night; eight to ten years—11 hours at night; ten years to adolescence—10 to 11 hours at night. These figures are meant to refer to actual sleep and not just the time spent in bed. It is certainly better not to wait until a baby is tired and irritable before putting it to bed.

The amount of sleep a child, as well as an adult, gets is an individual matter, and if in his waking hours he seems healthy and energetic and up to par the schedule given above can be shaded to conform to personal taste.

Drowsiness or excessively long sleeping periods usually do not mean anything alarming. Nor is

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, March 7

THE INDICATIONS for a prosperous and pleasant week of affairs are noted under the daily astral configurations. Both old and new matters should move ahead to agreeable and gratifying culmination if pursued calmly, reasonably and with well-formulated plans and decisive and practical efforts. Give serious consideration to the objectives desired, and soon impersonality, lavish or extravagant hardships of labor and be alert to treacherous influences. This also applies to the domestic, social and affectional relations, where happiness may always prevail.

Anyone whose birthday it is may look for the fulfillment of cherished ideas and ideals if they will forge ahead steadily and calmly, and with well-thought-out plans and with logical and practical constructive efforts. An indulgence in impatience, reckless or extravagance in use of funds, or in other forms of over-nervous or naive conduct may prove frustrating. The same precautions in domestic, social and romantic associations may invite entangled affairs, possibility and pleasant relations, but beware treacherous intrigues or duplicity.

A child born on this day will have many excellent talents and skills, with a steady and industrious tendency despite high ideals and aspirations. Never may "come easy and go easy" unless given early training in thrift.

RAIL BRAKEMAN KILLED

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 6—A brakeman for the Wabash railroad was killed early today and two others, both Ohioans, were injured when a locomotive backed into the caboose in which they were riding. The dead man was identified by police as Nick Snaw, 50. The injured were David A. Beach, 38, and Dennis Blue, 54, both from Montpelier.

The French language is spoken by 40 million people.

Questions and Answers.

H D—What sort of a reaction does an injection of wax under the skin have? Does it coagulate or disperse into the blood stream?

Answer—Wax injections have been used by some plastic surgeons, but mostly have been given up by the best ones, because they so often react as a foreign body with pain, redness and swelling at the site. These "paraffin tumours" usually had to be removed six months or a year after injection. The wax does not go into the blood stream.

The bituminous coal industry's production goal for 1944 is 620,000,000 tons, a world record.
